We Are So Rich
100 Billions Insurance
Rat-Bite Fever

—By Arthur Brisbane—

DO YOUR CHRISTMAS shopping early, for your own sake; stock speculation has given ready money to many that may not have so much next year. This will be a tremendous season in the stores, and if you wait, you will find the choice small. Start now, and be liberal.

What you give can never be taken from you; never be lost. It is safe forever. "That I gave away, I have. That I kept, I lost."

Many woke up this morning wondering what the stock market would do in the next few days. The simplest mind knows as much as the wisest.

Nobody should overlook increased wealth, individual and national. A country that earns twenty billions a year more than it needs to live, can keep a boom going. But there are limits to pyramiding.

Life insurance measures prosperity. Fifteen years ago this country carried twenty billion dollars worth of life insurance.

Now the life insurance total is close to ONE HUNDRED BILLION DOLLARS.

Standard Oil of California is added to the list of billion dollar corporations. Its stock is worth more than a billion. The same is true of its little brothers, Standard Oil of Indiana and Standard Oil of New Jersey. Only a few years ago, the Government attacked and "dissolved" Standard Oil, because it had reached the first billion.

Various pieces into which it was cut are worth now more than a billion each, and that does not begin to indicate their real value.

State governments force railroads to abolish grade crossings, and railroads protest "you are forcing us to build up our competitors, the motor bus lines that use public highways."

There's truth in that, and it is real competition. Regular motor bus mileage is now 270,000 and exceeds the regular route mileage of railroads, according to a survey by Dominick and Dominick.

What can railroads do? They can build express roads for automobiles, buses, trucks, etc., above their tracks, through crowded suburbs, with no grade crossings, and charge tolls. The Pennsylvania, New York Central and Long Island railroads could collect millions a year in tolls.

And railroad men could go the motor buses one better, by establishing flying lines. General Atterbury of the Pennsylvania made a start. C. E. Mitchell, head of the National City bank, and associates have bought a flying company, with big factories, controlling a number of commercial routes.

There is no reason why railroads should let themselves be eaten slowly by motor buses, as the dinosaurs were eaten by rats.

A new disease is called "rat-bite fever." Widespread and one of many carried by rats, the disease comes from a bite of a rat, or of a dog or other animal that has come in contact with rats.

If men could stop killing each other for a few years, devoting their killing energies to rats, mosquitoes and other dangerous pests, this would be a better world.

An end to rats, alone, would produce savings great enough to offset the billions lost in the last war.

Gigantically increased sales of mail order houses are recorded every month. New retail stores are opened everywhere, and every field of salesmanship invaded. You hear Martinelli singing, and the radio bringing his voice into your house tells you that the Atlantic & Pacific chain stores hired him to sing

In one year Sears, Roebuck, under its new president, Gen. Wood, a West Pointer, have opened two new mail order branches and 19 retail department stores, and have taken to selling coal in carload lots.

Montgomery Ward announces that they have 8,000,000 customers in this and foreign countries.

The small storekeeper must think hard.

Boy babies are more delicate than girl babies; more boys than girls die in infancy.

According to scientists of the American Institute gathered in New York, that is the fault of the ductless glands, giving little boys a bad start, even before their birth.

Ambassador Morrow's mother-in-law, past 80, went flying with Lindbergh. Mrs. Georgina Collett, who says she has lived so long because she lives in California, went flying with Chuck Bowling, a good pilot, in a monocoupe. She says the airplane is not so wondereful, not more wonderful than the railroads—of which she also saw the beginning.

Quiz Girls on Wild Revels

Brockton, Nov. 26—Six more high school girls were to be questioned today concerning alleged midnight revels, as District Attorney Winfield M. Wilbur delivered a scathing indictment of their parents and launched a rigid inquiry into the high school "burglary ring."

Declaring that reports of moonlight bathing parties, drinking orgies and wild scenes, in which business men participated, indicated a breakdown in the family life in Brockton, Wilbur ordered additional girls questioned to "bring justice to all concerned."

The district attorney also denounced the policy of permitting high school pupils of both sexes to associate with the work of "the professional stage and theater."

Dist. Atty. Wilbur added that he knew the whereabouts of Ruth E. Bolling, 19, missing daughter of the city chemist, for whose arrest a warrent was issued charging participation in breaks for which two high school boys are under arrest. The district attorney said she would be produced by her parents when needed. From another source it was learned the girl is recovering from a nervous breakdown.

FLAYS PARENTS' NEGLECT

"I have the names of five or six high school girls which have been linked with this case," said the district attorney, "and I have instructed prosecuting officials to interview

KING MAY GO UNDER KNIFE

London, Nov. 26— While the British nation today awaited impatiently the latest news from the bedside of King George, who is suffering from pleurisy, an undercurrent of anxiety developed as to whether his real condition had been revealed.

A prominent specialist, who refused to allow the use of his name because of medical traditions, said he believed that pneumonia had developed. If this is true, the specialist said, an operation might be necessary.

The specialist's statement, given after the 11 o'clock bulletin had been posted at Buckingham Palace, follows:

"The royal physicians' statement that a variability of fever and a spread of pleurisy must be expected at this stage of the illness is all 'eye wash.' I look for the crisis within the next three or four days.

"It seems to me that pneumonia has intervened. If the temperature drops, the patient recovers. Otherwise it probably will mean a surgical operation, which is very denger-

Man Freed in Duris Shooting

A directed verdict of not guilty today freed Herbert Swartswaller of Cambridge of the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon on Thomas Duris at the Hotel Brewster on the night of October 2.

No direct evidence was offered to show that Swartswaller shot Duris during a drinking party at the hotel. Duris, when taken to the hospital, refused to make any statement. He told the jury he was drunk when the shooting occurred, did not know who shot him and had no recollection of being at the Brewster.

Max Quinty, a member of the party, testified he did not see Swartswaller in the room at any time. Frederick H. McInnes, another in the group, could not remember anything that occurred in the room until a statement which he had made at the district attorney's office, was read to him. Then he recalled he had said Swartswaller was in the room, talking to Duris, but left at 5 o'clock.

The defense offered no evidence, and on motion of Defense Counsel Patrick Delaney, Judge Burns directed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty.

HONDURAS ACCLAIMS HERBERT HOOVER AS HE LANDS AT AMAPALA

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN,

International News Service Correspondent.

Amapala, Honduras, Nov. 26—President-elect Herbert Hoover of the United States came to Amapala today to make the first of his goodwill swing around Latin America. It was a gala occasion for this semi-tropical city, which was thronged with visitors from far and near.

The weather was windy with skies partly overcast when the U. S. S. Maryland, bearing the Hoover party, steamed into the Gulf of Fonseca at 7:30 o'clock.

The President-elect was up before the warship passed into the gulf. He played medicine ball on the deck and was looking forward with keen interest to the ceremonies of his first goodwill sojourn.

The Maryland dropped anchor about 9 o'clock, some seven miles off the coast line and those on board waited at the rail for the arrival of the official launches from the city, bearing the welcoming committee.

It was understood on shipboard that the President of Honduras would not be in the greeting committee.

Mr. Hoover's Amapala address will be his first message on the purpose of his tour.

Luncheon will follow, after which the entire party will be taken the 10 miles across the Bay of Fonseca to La Union in the launches. Most of the members of Salvador's cabinet are on the reception committee which will greet Mr. Hoover at La Union.

A sumptuous banquet has been planned for the evening, at which Mr. Hoover is expected to express his appreciation of the fact that American relations with Central America are most amicable. The

FIVE CHILDREN SAVED AS THREE FIRES RAGE

Five children were among those rescued in three fires in Beachmont, Lynn and Somerville, which drove 75 persons into the streets today.

In Beachmont, Patrolman Michael Mahoney of the Revere police rescued nine-year-old Mary Maxwell and her grandmother, Mrs. Samuel Maxwell, when an overheated furnace set fire to their home in Washburn ave. Samuel Maxwell made his way to the street unassisted.

DRIVEN TO STREET.

The occupants of three duplex wooden houses in Dover st., West Somerville, were driven to the street when hot ashes in a wooden barrel ignited and partly burned one of the buildings.

MYSTERY VEILS THREE DEATHS ON SHIP HERE

The bodies of three members of the crew of the steamer F. J. Luckenbach, tied up at Commonwealth Pier, were found today in their bunks, possibly killed by fumigating gas.

They were Walter S. DeMarcus, 38, fourth assistant engineer, of Whitehall st., New York city; Angel Bass, 34, ship's carpenter, and A. Montediabo, 42, boatswain, both of Water st., New York city.

DeMarcus' body was found by Francis Nugent, a messman, and the others by H. O. Wollsberg third mate, who went to turn them out when they failed to appear for duty.

The ship which has been in port for 15 days, is scheduled to sail for San Francisco and the West Coast tomorrow. It had been in drydock in East Boston some time, and on Saturday was fumigated, being hauled over to Commonwealth pier Sunday.

It is possible that the three men, returning from shore leave, were ignorant of the fact that fumigation had taken place, and retired to their cabin to be overcome by the poisonous fumes during the night.

MARKET HALTS ONLY TO TAKE A NEW SPURT

New York, Nov. 26 (AP)—The "bull" market roared along at a brisk rate today, stopping only temporarily to absorb a large volume of selling which followed the marking up of the call money rate from 6½ to 7 per cent.

Exereme gains in the active high-priced issues ran from $5 to nearly $20 a share. The ticker kept fairly well abreast of the market.

The rise in call money brought a flood of selling into the market around midday. Wright Aeroplane cancelled its opening gain of $15 a share and Curtiss Aeroplane, Radio and Victor Talking Machine fell back $6 to nearly $8 below their early high levels. Other active issues showed more moderate recessions.

Thousands Await Aid of Goodfellows

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, My children, ye have done it unto Me."

These are the words of the Christ whose lowly birth in a Bethlehem manger will soon be celebrated with feasting and rejoicing throughout the Christian world.

But there will be those unfortunate among us who will go hungry and cold on Christmas Day, unless the Goodfellows get busy in the next few weeks and carry some of the practical spirit of Yuletide into their hearts and homes.

Thousands will take down well-filled stockings when they "salute the Happy Morn," but their joy will be more complete if they have helped fill some of the wants of others.

No Goodfellow could possibly feel that his cup of Christmas happiness was complete if he realized he had neglected some poor, wearied

BULLETIN ON KING GEORGE'S ILLNESS CAUSES FRESH ALARM

CROWDS AT PALACE ANXIOUS

ous for a man the age of King George."

By a "surgical operation" the specialist is understood to have meant draining of the lungs.

CROWD CHEERS QUEEN

A crowd cheered Queen Mary, her daughter Princess Mary (Viscountess Lascelles), and her daughter-in-law, the Duchess of York, at 3 o'clock this afternoon when they went for a drive in Hyde Park. The Queen smiled and waved in response to the raised hats of the men and the curtesies of the women.

It was announced that the physicians attending King George would not issue another bulletin until about 8:30 tonight.

The Press Association announced late this afternoon that it understood that King George had "made satisfactory progress" during the day.

The Duke of York went to the sick room after luncheon. He stayed with his father for only a short time.

Late this afternoon there was an atmosphere of confidence about the palace where there seemed to be a feeling that tonight's bulletin would be of a more reassuring character.

Anxiety among the people over the King's condition was apparent when the 11 a. m. bulletin was posted outside Buckingham Palace and there was some consternation when it indicated the sovereign was showing no improvement from a serious condition.

TEXT OF BULLETIN

One incident revealed that led observers to fear all was not going as well as hoped for, was the announcement that two nurses were stationed at the King's bedside. Heretofore there has been only one.

A crowd of more than 1000 persons was before the palace when two officials left the threshold bearing a glass case containing a typewritten copy of the bulletin. This case was attached to the iron railing around the palace ground with a gold cord.

The crowd swarmed up close to read the bulletin.

This was the first time in the memory of living man that an announcement of this kind has been displayed to the public.

The bulletin, which was signed by the royal physicians, Sir Stanley Hewitt and Lord Dawson of Penn, read as follows:

"The King passed a restless night. A variability in the fever and a spread of pleurisy must be expected at this stage of his illness."

It is understood the physicians consulted Home Secretary Sir William Joynson-Hicks before issuing the bulletin.

The bulletin was an object of interest throughout the afternoon. There was a constant stream of people past it, with rich and poor standing side by side as they read the two short sentences and exchanged expressions of hope for the early recovery of His Majesty.

Among those who inspected the bulletin was one of the ladies-in-waiting to the queen.

While to the public the bulletin conveyed the impression that the malady was not yielding to treatment, Buckingham Palace officials showed no signs of undue worry. They interpreted the bulletin to mean that the illness was following its normal course.

It was pointed out that the restlessness of the patient last night was due to the rise in temperature, which reached 101 at one time.

The fact that the physicians reached the palace at 9 o'clock instead of 10, the usual hour, seemed to indicate they were less satisfied with the King's condition.

Although the bulletin gave no indication that the King's condition was dangerous, it was evident he was either passing through or approaching the crisis to which pleurisy subjects all its victims.

CROWDS AT PALACE

The throng that had milled about the palace gates for hours received the bulletin in forlorn silence. High hopes had been raised for a speedy recovery earlier in the morning when officials at the palace passed about the word that the King was resting easily.

Contrasted with the stormy weather of last week, this morning was bright.

There was the usual changing of the guard and the Coldstream Guards band played cheerful selections during the ceremony.

It was stated on good authority that a message was sent to the Prince of Wales yesterday telling him there was no need to change his plans. This, however, was before the announcement that the King's fever had increased. There is no intimation of any message of a different nature having been sent since.

them and obtain evidence to bring to justice all concerned.

"The case is an indictment against parents. Although they were high school pupils it has nothing to do with the high school authorities as their activities occurred outside of school hours.

"It is entirely up to the parents and showed there is a breakdown in American homes. Young girls were allowed to stay out until midnight and later without their parents being aware of their associations and connections.

"I believe it is bad policy for girls and boys of the tender years of high school children to be associated with the work of the professional stage and theater."

While the district attorney failed to specify just what he had in mind in making the reference to the stage, it is understood several of the girls whose names have been linked with the revels, participated in theatricals.

Ruth Bolling and George H. Grinnell, 17, one of the boys under arrest, met while rehearsing for amateur theatricals.

While the district attorney was making his statement, District Judge William G. Rowe ordered posted a notice to the effect that all summons and warrants should be served forthwith, adding that the police should exercise all possible diligence in serving warrants.

Inspector Chase, in commenting on this notice, said he could not serve the warrant on the Bolling girl as he did not know her whereabouts, and he was inclined to rest on her father's statement that she would be produced.

According to reports several girls are believed to have been lured to the revels by prominent business men to whose homes the parties were transferred when the coming of chill weather drove they from the beaches.

"My informants tell me they are prepared to back up their allegations," said District Attorney Wilbar. "One of them is the father of a high school girl who says his daughter has been misled by men active in the community, who hold themselves up as leaders in righteousness, but who, under cover of darkness, resort to improper practices, which are ruinous to the youth of the city."

FIVE HELD IN ROTHSTEIN MURDER

New York, Nov. 26 (AP)—Five men were held in bail today as material witnesses in the killing of Arnold Rothstein, Broadway gambler.

On the request of District Attorney Banton, Nathan Raymond, Sidney Stajar, Jimmy Meehan and E. C. Thomas were held in $100,000 bail each, while Martin Bowe was held in $10,000.

Harold W. Hastings, assistant district attorney, submitted a notation to Judge Mancuso in General Sessions indicating that these men were required before the grand jury and that "material and necessary witnesses" in the investigation had been tempered with.

The paper also stated that documentary evidence material to the investigation had been destroyed or stolen and that from the attitude of the five men it was apparent that they would not be available to the prosecution when they were required unless they were held in bail.

While bail was being set for these witnesses, the grand jury investigating the killing took testimony for two hours and a half before adjourning until tomorrow.

The district attorney said the grand jury will first inquire into the killing, and then consider indictment of persons who acted as accessories in the alleged spiriting away of George McMannus and other associates of Rothstein, who was fatally wounded in the Park Central Hotel on November 4.

Banton said the grand jury also would take up the tampering with files and records of Rothstein's office and home. The jury will also consider a conspiracy charge relating to the connection of Rothstein and others with the fur and one of the garment strikes in this city.

Illness Will Upset Royal Christmas Party

London, Nov. 26 (AP)—Because of King George's illness it was regarded today as inevitable that the royal family's ordinary plans for Christmas would be altered.

Since their married life began, King Edward and Queen Mary have spent almost every Christmas at Sandringham. As the Prince and Princess of Wales, during the reign of King Edward VII, and during the widowhood of Queen Alexandra, they occupied York cottage—cottage is a modest term for such a dwelling—although the house is quite unpretentions.

After the death of Queen Alexandra, King George and Queen Mary moved into Sandringham House, which was the personal property of King Edward, bequeathed first to Queen Alexandra and later to King George.

As far as possible, Christmas at Sandringham with the royal family has been as much a family reunion as with a Britisher's more lowly place.

Christmas for many elder royalties brings many sad memories. His Majesty's elder brother, the Duke of Clarence, was in the grip of an illness, one Christmas, which later caused his death and hence altered the whole life of King George.

Queen Victoria, unknown to the general public, was sinking slowly toward death another Christmas and it was during the Christmas season following the close of the war that King George's youngest son, Prince John, who was 13 years of age, passed into a condition which ended in his death three weeks later. Prince John had been afflicted since his birth and the fact that his affliction was hopeless had never been concealed.

It has been announced that if King George recovers his health he will not undertake another Mediterranean cruise. Whether he will go to Sandringham will depend largely upon the rapidity of his recovery and the advice of his physicians.

Norfolk weather is not particularly inviting at this season of the year. The atmosphere is usually damp, the country being lowlying. It would not be surprising if the doctors ordered His Majesty to some place like Brighton.

BOULDER DAM BILL TO PASS

Chicago, Nov. 26 (AP)—Senator Hiram Johnson of California, stopping here en route to Washington today, declared his conviction the Boulder Canyon Dam bil would be passed during the short session of Congress. Its passage, he said, is "beyond a'l doubt."

POINTS TO HER SERVICE TO HUMANITY

"Lotta Crabtree was one of the noblest characters in the history of American womanhood. The Boston Evening American is doing a splendid thing in bringing before the reading public the story of her life."

That is what Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, famous "Daddy" of the Y. D. (Yankee Division), thinks of the serial, "The Rise of Lotta Crabtree," by Constance Rourke, an exclusive feature which starts in next Monday's Boston Evening American.

The most remarkable feature of the inimitable actress' will, which, since her death four years ago has withstood attempts to break it of nearly 100 claimants in a series of legal battles which are judicial history, was the provision of a trust fund of $2,000,000, the income from which she designated should be used to aid disabled or ill World War veterans and their dependents.

FOUND STORY INSPIRING

General Edwards, one of the three administrators and trustees named by Lotta Crabtree in her will, says of "The Rise of Lotta Crabtree":

"I have not yet had the opportunity to read it in its entirety, but I have read the first chapters and found them compelling, inspiring

"The life story of such a woman as Lotta Crabtree cannot fail to hold the utmost interest for every one of us who is human.

"Her whole life was devoted to giving joy to her fellow creatures. She lived as amazing a life as any actress in history. She amassed a great fortune, and after she retired from the stage, her one idea was to keep that fortune at the greatest possible maximum, not for herself, but in order that it might do the greatest possible amount of good in the charitable works for which she intended to leave it.

DENIED SELF LUXURIES

"She even denied herself the ordinary luxuries of life to insure the realization of that ideal.

"A 'surprise' in her will, to which she mysteriously referred before her death, proved to be her wonderful provision for unfortunate veterans of the World War.

"But to those who knew her well there was little surprise about that beautiful gesture. She was ever a great admirer of the military.

"The World War affected her deeply. In the years between its end and her own passing no one knows how many times she stopped a one-armed or one-legged youth in the street to ask if he were a veteran, and his misfortune a result of the war.

AIDED MANY VETERANS

"Receiving a reply in the affirmative, she would say: 'I am Lotta Crabtree. Probably you have never heard of me but once I was an actress whom audiences were gracious enough to call great. You ask your father who Lotta Crabtree is. He will know.'

"And usually the disabled war veteran would find he had acquired a priceless friend in the personage of the famous stage star of yesteryear.

"The publishing of the story of the life and career of this amazing woman by the Boston Evening American is a worthwhile effort in the newspaper field which cannot be too highly commended."

Begin this great story in next Monday's Boston Evening American. It reads like romance, but is all fact.

FINANCIERS AT RYAN FUNERAL

New York, Nov. 26 (AP)—A low requiem mass—the simplest funeral service of the Catholic church—today marked the burial of Thomas Fortune Ryan, financier.

At the mass in the Church of St. Jean Baptiste, built through gifts of $1,000,000 from the Ryan fortune, were 1000 persons, many of them leaders of finance.

There were no honorary pallbearers. The bronze casket, containing the body, was carried into the church by professional pallbearers and a little more than half an hour later it was borne out again, to be taken to a receiving vault in Calvary Cemetery.

The Rev. J. A. Pauzo, pastor of the church, celebrated the mass, and in the chancel sat priests of surrounding parishes. Mgr. Michael J. Lavelle, rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, and the Right Rev. Andrew Brennan, bishop of Richmond, Va., were present.

Others who attended the service included J. P. Morgan, Thomas W. Lamont, Otto H. Kahn, Charles M. Schwab, Bernard Baruch, Charles H. Sabin and members of the Guggenheim family.

1 DEAD IN GALE; COLD TO STAY

The mercury officially dipped to 18 today as Greater Boston working folk were tumbling out of bed, it being coldest at 7 o'clock this morning and unofficial temperatures much lower were reported, the lowest in the Blue Hills, where it was only 14.

At least 24 hours more of the blast from the northwest is in store for Boston and vicinity, according to the weather bureau.

A minimum temperature of 25 degrees is promised for tonight and the forecast is for fair weather, with slowly rising temperatures and moderate west to southwest winds.

The one victim of the storm to lose his life was William A. Boynton, a Boston & Maine brakeman of 941 Main st., Malden. The treacherous footing caused him to slip while stepping on a moving freight car just outside the North Station. He slipped and fell under the wheels of the train, being instantly killed.

ROTHWELL WILL BARES TWO UNUSUAL PROVISOS

SON MUST REPAY MONEY GIVEN TO DIVORCED WIFE

An unusual will was filed in Norfolk probate court today. In it the late Edmund A. Rothwell of Brookline leaves one-third of his estate to his son, Edmund A., Jr., with two provisos.

One is that he pay off a note of $84,000 given by his father, and which his father has assigned to the First National Bank of Boston, and the other that he reimburse the estate for the $300 a month which Rothwell, Sr., had been paying his son's divorced wife, Katherine M. Rothwell, since last February.

The First National Bank of Boston and James E. Rothwell are appointed executors and trustees of the estate.

Mrs. Clara Rothwell, the widow, is given $800 a month during her lifetime, there having been a prenuptial agreement. A third of the income will go to a daughter and the remaining third to the Mt. Pleasant Home for Aged Men and Women, South Huntington ave., Boston.

The will provides that 10 per cent of the yearly income be added each year to the principal, and that 20 years after the death of Mrs. Rothwell the principal be divided between son, daughter and the Home for the Aged.

The amount of the estate is not given in the will, which was drawn July 9, 1928.

DON WANTS AIR, AND THEY GIVE HIM HUB TEA!

Disappointed in his desire to fly from the Boston Airport, the Infante Don Alfonso, cousin of the King of Spain, spent his second and last day here toying with fragile teacups and peering at objets d'art.

Yes, the royal visitor wanted to fly and so expressed himself in emphatic terms 'ere the round of social engagements had begun, but the speech and gesticulations of the Marquis de Villaviela, who is a sort of major domo for the Don Alfonso party, finally won him over.

And so the party, guests of Grafton D. Cushing, visited Tech, the Agassiz Museum at Harvard and Fenway Court, Mrs. Jack Gardner's Palace, where luncheon was served.

Although the infante is head of the flying corps of the Spanish army and an air enthusiast of the front rank, he will not make a hop while on his American tour if those responsible for his safety can prevent it, it is understood.

After commenting that life in Boston was not so feverish as in New York, he cut short an interview, explaining he had talked himself out on his arrival.

Accompanying Don Alfonso are his wife, the Infanta Donna Beatriz; their son, Prince Alvaro; Donna Pomposa de Escadon Salamanca, and the Marquis de Villevieta. The Infanta Beatriz inspected the Free Hospital for Women in Brookline with Mrs. Bayard Thayer. Tonight the party will dine with Mr. and Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby and attend the opera opening, leaving for Washington at midnight.

TWO ESCAPE IN $20,000 FIRE

Worcester, Nov. 26 (AP)—A fire which started in the cellar of a building at 24-26 Millbury st. today did damage of $20,000 to the block, the store of Maurice White and the photograph studio of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Klaston on the third floor.

The Klaston's living apartments adjoin their studio and Klaston escaped by jumping from a window of the apartment to a shed roof and then to the ground. Mrs. Klaston was led to the street through smoke-filled hallways and staircases by a police officer.

MAN KILLED IN AUTO MYSTERY; SISTER DYING

With a broken tow-rope hanging from the front, a dead man back of the wheel and his sister unconscious in the snow beside the machine, an automobile was found today mysteriously wrecked against a tree in Lake st., Peabody, just off the Newburyport turnpike.

Officers Carl B. Thomas and C. B. Murray of the State police, who arrived just after the wreck was found, said the body of the driver, George Wright, [illegible], of Fairchild st., West Lynn, was cold, indicating death had occurred hours before.

Wright's sister, Mrs. Lillian [illegible], [illegible], is in Lynn hospital, where her name is on the danger list. She was badly cut and bruised.

Wright's skull was crushed in, in front, as if his head had hit the steering wheel.

According to Mrs. Margaret Wright of West Lynn, her son had gone early today to West Peabody to have her car towed home.

Police of Lynn and Peabody are conducting a search of garages to find a piece of rope matching the broken end found on the Wright car.

CAR SKIDS AND ALMOST CAREENS INTO SPOT POND

Lincoln Yalden of Richardson ave., Arlington, driving a large closed car down Porter's Cove Hill, near Spot Pond, in Stoneham, early today, had a narrow escape. At the foot of the hill the road takes a sharp turn. When Yalden applied his brakes they failed to hold on the icy coating of the road and his car skidded, almost turning turtle before it halted near the edge of the pond. Yalden waded ashore unhurt.

NARROW GAUGE TIEUP DELAYS THOUSANDS

Commuters using the Boston Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad were hours late reaching work today when service on the line broke down completely.

For two hours service was at a standstill, and when trains began to move they only crept along toward the East Boston terminus.

The usual rush hour crowds on their way to work filled the stations and overflowed on to the wind-swept platforms as the minutes flitted by without any sign of a train. At 10 o'clock thousands were still waiting all along the line to Revere, Lynn and Winthrop.

Officials of the road, which was electrified this fall, said that employes used too much of the current for heating purposes, causing a breakdown of the power lines.

One of the discarded steam locomotives was pressed into service and took a trainload from Winthrop Center to the ferry, relieving the situation somewhat.

Some persons walked to Orient Heights or other places and took trolley cars, but walking was cold

SETTING OUT TO COUNT TIES ON THE NARROW GAUGE

Scores of train riders, commuting to their jobs and for shopping in Boston today, were forced to walk much of the way when the Lynn-Revere Beach Narrow Gauge service collapsed. Photo shows some of them setting out to trudge from a stalled train to the East Boston ferry slip.

N. Y. U. PLAYER OF CAMBRIDGE RECOVERS

Pittsburgh, Nov. 26—Al Lassman, captain of the New York University football team, who was injured in Saturday's game with Carnegie Tech, recovered full consciousness this afternoon and was able to converse with fellow players.

His home is in Cambridge Mass.

Lassman said he did not know just what happened to him Saturday. He said he was running full tilt and he remembered being struck by another player.

"Everything went black then," he said, "and I didn't know a thing until I came to in a hospital."

The young man, who played tackle, was said by hospital attaches to be still in a serious condition. Doctors announced that he suffered a "severe concussion" and believe he will not be able to leave the institution for at least 10 days or two weeks.

He has regained consciousness several times since he was injured, only to lapse again into a state of unconsciousness. He is believed to have been kicked in the head during a scrimmage in which Harold Eyth of Carnegie Tech and Ken Strong of the Violets also were injured.

Charles Vye, manager of the New York U. team and the team physician, remained in Pittsburgh over the week-end.

MISS O'LEARY CRITICISED AT CAR HEARING

Caustic criticism and high praise were heaped on Miss Katherine O'Leary, chief examiner for the State insurance department, today, as final arguments were made in the State's attempt to force the Car Owners' Mutual Insurance Company to cease operations on the ground that it is insolvent.

The closing arguments of Gen. John H. Sherburne, attorney for the company and Asst. Atty.-Gen. Roger Clapp for the State, were heard by Atty. William H. Hitchcock, the master appointed by the Supreme Court, who said he intends to make an early report to the court.

Gen. Sherburne asserted that Miss O'Leary took action which led to the State's contention of insolvency, when she ordered the company to set up a reserve of $125,000 against unsettled claims, in place of a reserve of $83,445, which department examiners had previously specified.

He said she took 28 abnormal cases of settlements made by the company and used these settlements as "an absurd yardstick" against all the claims of 1927 and 1928, "an outrageous and arbitrary act, resulting in irreparable damage to the company even if it is permitted to continue in business."

Gen. Sherburne also declared that he hoped to prove the company solvent and he cited figures to show that it maintained reserves higher than the 60 percent required by law. He said the State never questioned the honesty and integrity of the company officers.

Asst. Atty.-Gen. Clapp replied by declaring that Miss O'Leary's expert testimony before the master remained uncontradicted and that she had projected a deficit of $200,000 to $300,000 for the company by Dec. 31 of this year. He praised her for doing her duty.

"There is no reason why this company should have been surprised by the state's claim of insolvency because every examination showed it to be insolvent," he said. "The trouble was it left its reserve-making to its claim manager, Roy A. Barrows, who, by his own testimony, had never set up a reserve before in his life.

TEMPORARY BAN ON HOTEL

In court at today's hearing were 20 federal prohibition agents as well as Capt. George Patterson and members of his Boston police liquor and vice squad.

They were ready to testify in the event that proprietors or representatives of the Ritz and the Moulin Rouge objected to the temporary restraining orders.

Counsel for both respondents, however, made no objection to the orders when they were assured that the restraints did not constitute a closing of the hotel and cafe.

Counsel for John F. Sullivan, proprietor of the Ritz Hotel, fought issuance of the orders today, stating that his client is ill with a nervous breakdown, but his fight was lost.

STATE PROBES DOCTORS' FEES

A fee table adopted by the Arlington Doctors club for Arlington and Lexington is under consideration by the State Commission on the Necessities of Life, on complaint of Ernest Cutter of Massachusetts ave., East Lexington.

Although the commission has no jurisdiction in a case of this sort, it feels the matter should not go unnoticed, according to a statement in which it revealed its inquiry.

The fees are as follows: Each day visit, $4; visits 5 p. m. to 9 p. m., $5; from 9 p. m. to 8 a. m. $5 to $10; visits in consultation, $10; office call or advice by letter or telephone, $3; obstretrical attention, $50; major operations, $100 to $500; minor operations, $10 to $100.

Cutter says that Lexington physicians are all charging in accordance with this schedule and that the charges for house calls are twice those made in 1914, and for office calls, three times the former amount.

mother, a hungry child or a sick father or son.

There are many in that unfortunate condition through no fault of their own. Now is the time to remember them—not when it is too late.

Many of the Goodfellows have already shown that they have not forgotten that it is more blessed to give than receive. Their response to the annual appeal of the Boston Evening American was immediate and encouraging. But more Goodfellows are needed to spread the joy of Christmas in hundreds of needy homes. Let everyone help to make this Christmas a banner one in Greater Boston.

A DRIVE AGAINST SADNESS

Goodfellows of the past years are needed—and an army of newcomers. You cannot mobilize in too great numbers for the drive against sadness and heartache on what should be the happiest day of the year.

In more homes than the average man can have knowledge of, the Yuletide happiness is a complete stranger.

Won't you be a Santa Claus?

Or at least give Santa a helping hand?

There isn't much to be done in order to be a Goodfellow. The money consideration is small. The time element is infinitesimal when you measure it against happiness.

This is the Goodfellow plan of the Boston Evening American, a plan that is plain and simple:

Each year hundreds of letters are received by the Boston Evening American from fathers, mothers and children asking that the Christmas season be made happy for them by the help of Goodfellows.

If you want to be a Goodfellow for one or more families, write immediately to the Goodfellow Editor of the Boston Evening American and fill out the blanks published with this article. State, if you wish, the district of Boston or any city, or the section of a town, in which you would like to be a Goodfellow.

The Goodfellow Editor will then send you the names and letters of the needy and you can have the hearty satisfaction of learning of what is needed, buying it yourself and delivering it, too.

Think of the joy of being a real Santa Claus yourself.

NOW IS THE TIME

If you cannot give the time to the buying and delivering, the Goodfellow Editor will be glad to attend to it for you.

Just send him your ideas and your orders, your selection of a special district for your case or cases, and he will carry out everything just as you wish and confidentially, too.

Write today to the Goodfellow Editor, Boston Evening American, Winthrop sq., Boston. Tell him what you wish to do, what size family or families you wish to provide for and he will forward one or more of the pathetic letters of appeal that he is receiving every day from those who deserve.

Don't forget. Write or fill in the blank NOW.

Be a Goodfellow.

Total Eclipse of Moon Will Occur Early Tomorrow

New York, Nov. 26—The moon will put on a special show of its own early Tuesday morning, so early in fact that heavy crowds are not expected to be on hand to witness the spectacle. At 2:21 a. m. tomorrow, the earth will begin its movements directly between the sun and the moon. At 3:33, its shadow will cover the moon completely. The total eclipse will be over at 4:29 o'clock, and the moon will begin to brighten as the disc of the earth's shadow moves away.

ALBATROSS UP 22 HOURS

Fresno, Cal., Nov. 26 (AP)—The monoplane Albatross, carrying Pilots Lee Schoenair and John Guglielmetti in their attempted record-breaking endurance flight, passed its 22d hour in the air at 4:41 a. m. today, at which time a dense fog hid the plane, but its roar was plainly heard.

The plane established a new record for load lifting yesterday on its take-off south of here at 6:41 a. m. The ship carried 646 gallons of gasoline and 40 gallons of oil, the gross weight of the plane being 650 pounds. Its single motor develops about 200 horsepower.

The previous record for load lift was made by William S. Brock and Edward F. Schlee, round the world fliers. Their plane, with a similar motor, lifted 556 gallons of gasoline and 40 gallons of oil.

An oil leak which developed in the Albatross last night threatened for a time to cut short the attempt, but the fliers later dropped a message saying the trouble had been "ironed out."

Texas Guinan as a Dry Lecturer IS News

New York, Nov. 26 (INS)—Is there no end to surprising news?

Mme. Texas Guinan, the queen imperial of Manhattan's night life, who is a "dry" only when she is asleep, is responsible for this latest dispatch with a knockout punch.

La Guinan is going to make a lecture tour through the country preaching the doctrine of temperance. And the Anti-Saloon League is going to pay her heavy money, or "sugar," as she would call it, for her efforts. All this according to Rev. O. F. Bartholomew of Mt. Vernon. He said the fact she had never personally taken a drink made her a suitable "worker."

SIX HURT WHEN HURRICANES HIT SHIP

Portland, Me., Nov. 26 (AP)—With six seamen injured and her battered decks testifying to the fury of two hurricanes she had passed through, the freighter Millpool was in port today after a 23-day voyage from Fowey, England, that ordinarily would have been made in 16. Capt. S. E. Batson said the steamer would have foundered but for oil pumped upon the water for 18 hours.

"We had heavy gales all the way," Capt. Batson said. "After a succession of bad storms there came the first hurricane, then the second." The freighter frequently intercepted S O S calls from other ships far away, he said. The Millpool's plight warranted a call for aid, but the crew preferred to fight it out themselves.

Seaman Arthur Hird was caught by an inboarding sea and tossed from the trunk deck to the hull deck. His broken arm was set by shipmates. Hird was taken to a hospital here.

Auto Victim Dies

Fiskdale, Nov. 26 (AP)—John J. Callahan, 79, who was struck by an automobile driven by Arthur McDonald, two weeks ago, died at a Worcester hospital. He had lived in Fiskdale 50 years.

'FINE FOOL TO BRIBE KEYES!' SAYS AIMEE

New York, Nov. 26 (INS)—"Do I look silly? Don't let anyone tell you I'd be that stupid to pay $800,000 to Asa Keyes to keep him quiet. What a fine fool I'd be to buy anybody's silence."

Thus Aimee Semple MacPherson, speeding to Los Angeles, today branded charges under grand jury investigation that Keyes, former district attorney of Los Angeles, was bribed to drop prosecution of her famous "kidnaping" case.

Mrs. MacPherson arrived on the liner Columbus, and is now en route to her home for Thanksgiving turkey.

Mrs. MacPherson was eager to discuss her four-month tour of Europe. She was enthusiastic about her reception in England.

"And Paris wasn't so bad after all," she said after telling how shocked she was to see bars open on the streets and children carrying wine about.

"In Paris I found nobody drunk. They were all well-behaved. Comparison of Paris and New York leaves New York still far behind in the matter of evil."

LIFEBELTS OF VESTRIS FATAL IN STORM

New York, Nov. 26—If the life preservers on the ill-fated Vestris had been of a different design more lives would have been saved, Capt. Luther Martin Overstreet of the U. S. S. Wyoming, testifed today at the resumption of the inquiry into the disaster before U. S. Commissioner O'Neill.

"I saw several persons drowned with lifebelts on," said Overstreet. "One had his head and feet in the water. His waist was well up. In my opinion if the lifebelts used by merchant vessels fitted close around the shoulders and neck there would be more people saved. If they lost consciousness then their heads would remain above water."

Overstreet said such lifebelts as he favored were used in the U. S. navy.

They are built close under the chin, he said, to hold the head up, and higher in the back to support the head there. With such high built belts, he testified, a swimmer may remain alive although half drowned and worn out with the buffeting of the waves.

He estimated that 20 hours would be the limit of human endurance in the water in waves such as there were during the rescue work.

"It is remarkable," he said, "that any of those women stood the beating of the sea all night long."

The witness also expressed the opinion that where the Vestris actually sank was 37 miles east of the position she reported to nine vessels that searched for her.

Harry Wheeler, superintendent of the Lamport & Holt Line, testified next, expressing the opinion that the leaks that sank the Vestris might have been caused by any one of four possibilities: Rupture of the shell plate, parting of seam rivets, fracturing of a sea connection, or straining of coal ports and side doors by heavy seas.

"There is no evidence before me," he said, "as to which occurred."

Wheeler submitted a brief written report of an independent investigation he is conducting. This report said it had been learned that the starboard bilge tanks of the Vestris were pumped out the day before the ship sank and Wheeler added: "I am unable to state whether or not this was injurious."

U. S. FIANCEE GREETS COUNT AT THE PIER

New York, Nov. 26 (AP)—Count Folke Bernadotte, nephew of King Gustave V. of Sweden, arrived today aboard the motorship Gripsholm for his marriage to Estelle Romaine Manville at Pleasantville next Saturday.

Miss Manville at the pier greeted the count affectionately. When asked his opinion of American girls, the count replied:

"I have chosen one. She is incomparable."

He said their romance began when they met at Monte Carlo last March and was continued when he was a guest of the Manville family on a yacht cruise this summer. More recently Miss Manville was the guest of the count's parents in Stockholm.

Count Bernadotte's party includes the two sons of the crown prince of Sweden. The entire party went to the Mayfair house where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Edward Manville.

MISS CORNELIA CLARK, BACK BAY SOCIETY GIRL, HAS WEDDING IN TRINITY CHURCH TODAY—BETTY ALDEN

Three Clergymen Officiate; 14 Bridesmaids and 14 Ushers Serve

TODAY GOES DOWN IN SOCIAL ANNALS (WHEREVER THESE written-in-gilt records are permanently kept) all glitteringly starred as Miss Cornelia Clark's wedding day. A pen could be dipped in hyperbole to scrawl a luminous, phosphorescent script dripping superlatives and still not one whit exaggerate the occasion's ecclesiastical pageantry or social importance. Noon bells clanged on the November air as the enormously long processional moved into the familiar rhythm to match "Here Comes the Bride," and the long anticipated hush settled over Trinity's candle lighted, romance scented dimness.

TO WATCH 14 BRIDESMAIDS and 14 ushers attend Miss Clark on her fateful way to become Mrs. Philip Webster Smith almost the entire social fabric of the town fluttered into Trinity. Her pater, J. Dudley Clark, has friends by the score in the upper stratas. The bride herself shines radiantly among her own contemporaries, of the dancing-hunting-frivoling coteries, and then there are the diamond encrusted dowagers and top-hatted fine gentlemen who remember reverently the bride's late mother, the lovely heiress, who was Miss Cornelia Andrew, and so crowd Trinity's pews to do homage to her daughter on that daughter's wedding day.

NO MERE MAN WEDDING guest ever appreciates the beauty of so imposing a wedding group. The masculine eye merely visions pretty girls in pink and blue and bride trailing stately white. The all-seeing feminine optic, however, comprehends the suavity of line and the beauty and richness of color and fabric. They all wore gleaming, shimmering velvets, the bride and her entourage. Mrs. Daniel Simonds, 2d, matron of honor, and Miss Mary Hammond, maid of honor, were in blue, a soft periwinkle tint, and the other dozen maids illuminated the scene with soft rose. Present day straightness, with its subtle suggestion of a "waistline" was sufficiently emphasized. The hems follow the up and down effect and sleeves were long.

A LOVELY TROUPE THEY WERE, THE BRIDESMAIDS, FROM high heeled shoes to velvet crowns. They carried pompon "mums" in the autumn range of gold and rust bronze, loosely clustered, and looked out on the assemblage from beneath becoming hats, wide as to brim and adorned with Renaissance bows. Like a jewel setting, they surround the bride's crystal white. With so lovely a fabric to fashion as today's featherweight velvet the clever modiste can create the loveliest of bridal finery. And she hails with joy so well poised a bride, one so slender and vibrant for whom to create something to bring a hush of appreciation to every observer.

ABOVE THE BRIDE'S DARK HAIR PEARLS GLOWED, A FRENCH conceit like a tiny crown combined with the bride's family diamonds. A bit of glitter radiated from the wide cuffs of the long wrinkled sleeves, done in pearls and rhinestones. The train flowed its square ended length from the waist and over all frothed the very rare and very fragile piece of antique applique, a family treasure, the bride wore for her wedding veil. She carried valley lilies and white orchids and looked the radiant vision every bride should look to meet her beloved at the altar.

USHERS, CAP-A-PIE FROM GRAY SPATS TO STRIPED CRAVATS, were a company to thrill the feminine heart to pleasant exhilaration. And J. Dudley Clark, escorting his daughter to meet her future husband, was not the least ornamental masculine in the processional. Otherwise, there were the bride's brothers, Forrester and J. Dudley, Jr.; George Burgess, who married pretty little Helen Lovering a year or so ago; George Mumford, Stanley French, Philip Spaulding and John Toulmin, a Hub contingent. From Manhattan five young men came to do the honors—Perry Crawford, George Kent, Jr., Edward Douglass, Riley Gilbert, Alexander White and Charles Hurd.

MORRISON MILLS OF DETROIT MADE THE 14TH YOUNG MAN of the white gardenia brigade, a number to match with the bride's cortege. Henry Watts, Philadelphian, was best man, and when bride met bridegroom at the altar there were three churchly dignitaries waiting there to intone the solemn service—Bishop Lawrence, the Rev. Endicott Peabody of Groton school and the Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill of Trinity. After Mr. and Mrs. Smith had "signed the register" at Trinity they made a dash for the Hereford st. residence of Mr. Clark, where all the swagger set wedding guests trouped for the reception.

AND LATER ON THE BRIDE DEPARTED IN THE SMARTEST OF "going away" costumes. As she is bright of cheek and sparkling of eye, the silken frock verging on turquoise blue and matching kasha coat rich in gray fox was most becoming. A trig hat of blue added the final touch to a perfect ensemble. The bride's place in the town's younger smart set is with the leaders—she belongs of course to the Junior League and the Vincent Club. She hunts with the Norfolk set and frivols with the elite, those who in years to come will be social arbiters for Boston's Mayfair.

ONE CAN PICTURE BEAUTIFUL "WELD," SERENELY APART on its sightly hilltop, the scene of brilliant entertainment last evening for Their Highnesses of the Royal House of Spain. A regal establishment for the welcoming of royal guests is Weld with host and hostess letter perfect in the etiquette of courts and kings. It is very fitting that Mr. and Mrs. Larz Anderson of Boston and Washington and the wide, wide world, each persona grata where the great of five continents mingle, should be hosts to the Infante and Infanta of Spain, with their entourage.

IT MIGHT BE SAID THAT THESE ARE THE DAYS OF A SPANISH invasion! And a royal invasion at that. Even as their highnesses of the blood royal are whirled through a brilliant round La Argentina, queen of dance, arrives for the briefest of stays and to be the Junior League's star attraction at its one enormous benefit of the winter. The League rallies to a woman to make the benefit an enormous success. The sale of tickets has been fast and furious—so that way on up into the crannies of Symphony Hall the tide of spectators will run.

USHERING IS AN ART WITH THE LEAGUERS. SO IS FLOWER selling. They can seat an enormous company with dispatch and efficiency, and when it comes to smilingly accepting a bill for a boutonniere they possess a finesse that has magical results for the League strongbox. The two corps function under Miss Dorothy Lawrence and Miss Helen Curtis and include the Misses Constance Percival, Barbara Welch, Marion Upton, Ruth Swift, Barbara Spring, Peggy Creighton, Anna Walcott, Rose Bryant, Madeleine Post, Rie French, Jane Megrew, Phyllis Ellsworth, Juliet Richardson and Mary Hammond.

ALSO THE MISSES EUGENIA FROTHINGHAM, ALICE GRAVES, Edith Wolcott, Martha Wigglesworth, Helen Rust, Evelyn Royce, Nell Baldwin, Virginia Taylor, Ruth Wheelwright, Eleanor Holton, Josephine Sturgis, Virginia Ayres, Sarah Bradlee, Mrs. Guy Warren Walker, Jr., Mrs. J. Howard Wing, and Mrs. Frederick C. Dumaine, Jr. I hope they'll all wear those fetching black taffeta frocks with the pert little caps and bibs that give them a glorified stage parlormaid air. For such an occasion, when a "uniform" is the thing, there's nothing quite so pleasing as this severe black taffeta with its coquettish touches of white.

Betty Alden

Miss Polly Beale is a busy young Junior League member. She helps engineer a bridge for the Infants' Hospital on Dec. 4 at Mrs. Walter C. Baylies' home in Commonwealth ave.

200 CONVICTS KEPT RAZORS IN CELLS

More than 200 convicts at State Prison have straight razors in their cells in addition to several hundred more that have safety razors and blades, it was disclosed today by prison authorities, as a detail of State police stood ready for word from Governor Fuller to conduct a thorough search of the institution.

It has been the custom for many years to permit the inmates to have their own razors in order that they might shave themselves, because it would be out of the question to have every one of the 932 shaved even every third day by the prison barbers.

In spite of the alarm caused by the attempt of Charles Trippi, Jr., to escape, and discovery of a wholesale jail delivery plot, these razors were not taken away from the prisoners except those most feared.

Warden Hendry, when he was deputy warden, severel years ago, was attacked by a prisoner armed with a straight razor and only subdued his man after a violent struggle in which Hendry was slashed badly.

MAY TAKE RAZORS AWAY.

There have been suicides, but not for many years, it was revealed in this same connection. A condemned prisoner was found a few years ago with a knife blade in his shoe with which he apparently intended to cheat the electric chair at the last minute.

How the razor problem will be solved during the present general investigation of conditions at the institution is not known, but prison officers consider it possible that there will be no more razors permitted at the prison, except in the hands of trusties who act as barbers.

BATES UP TODAY

Commissioner of Correction Sanford Bates was to appear before the Governor today to explain personally why he did not order the State police to search State prison, in accordance with Governor Fuller's instructions.

Bates has explained by telephone to the Governor that he deemed the search instituted by prison officials sufficient. It was thought at the State House, that, following this scheduled conference, the State troopers would be despatched to make the search that the Governor proposed more than a week ago.

ASK MAYOR FOR AMBULANCE

Citizens of Charlestown are demanding that an ambulance be assigned to the district because of the hazard along the docks. The drive is headed by Representative-Elect Charls S. Sullivan, Jr., son of Judge Sullivan of Charlestown District Court.

"With a delegation from the Longshoremen's Union I called on Mayor Nichols," said Sullivan today. "At his request I put our application in writing. East Boston has an ambulance and we have a larger and more active waterfront.

"The nearst ambulance is at Haymarket Relief Station, more than a mile away. Frequently it has taken the Relief Hospital ambulance from 30 to 40 minutes to respond because of traffic congestion on the bridge and in City sq.

"The police patrol has been used at times, but it is not properly equipped for desperate cases and it has often been out on other police duties when called. What the district needs and needs badly is a special ambulance to be attached to Division 15. Accidents that happen on the docks are usually critical. I saw a man pinned under a heavy weight for nearly an hour and never forgot the sight.

"Police Commissioner Wilson approves. It is now up to Mayor Nichols."

RELIEF FROM HABIT-FORMING LAXATIVES

Sufferers from constipation will welcome a remedy that is made to do more than just relieve immediate symptoms! Thalax—it is called.

Thalax tends to do away with medicine taking! For besides bringing prompt relief, it so strengthens and tones the bowels themselves, that their natural action is gradually restored, and after a reasonable time no more medicine should be necessary, except possibly at rare intervals. Thalax puts life into bowell muscles that have been relaxed or weakened by too much drugging.

Take one or two Thalax tablets tonight at bedtime. In the morning you will experience a natural movement, without griping or distress. Use Thalax at intervals until your bowel movements become normal and natural again, then stop using it. The natural bowel action will continue. No habit will be formed. You will experience no harmful after-effects whatsoever. Instead, the relief will be very noticeable and welcome.

Leading druggists everywhere sell Thalax, 35c per bottle of 30 tablets. If your druggist hasn't it, send direct to the makers, K. A. Hughes Company, Boston, Mass.

The gorgeous new shaggy peach-colored fluff will surprise and thrill the homefolks.

Hats Modeled to the Head $5

Individuality is the keynote to a becoming hat, and the way to attain a hat contoured to agree with your own features is to have it modeled to your head. Miss Nurenberg of the Rose Shoppe, 453 Washington St., Rm. 916, artfully studies your lines, profile and full face—then clips and fits you the most becoming hat of Soleil felt for only $5. It may be a gracefully swathed turban effect, suave and sophisticated—or it may be a prankish flare-back, but in any case it will be becoming, and distinctly YOUR hat. Ready-to-wear hats have been reduced to $3.45, and your favorite last year's felt or velour can be remodeled like new for $3.

The Folks Are Coming

home for Thanksgiving, Anne, and we have dressed up our house all spick and span. I did all my shopping at Lepie's, 54 Chauncy St., where I found the most exquisite Irish Point lace curtains, in either ecru or white, for only $2.50 a pair. I was so pleased at this low price that I looked about for other decorative touches, and found some adorable, bright-colored silk pillows, oblong, round or heart-shaped, for only $1.49. Lepie's is brimming with Christmas suggestions, Anne, handmade linen bridge sets, handkerchiefs, etc. And what an ideal and lasting gift are their all-wool comforters, priced at $4.75. It pays to buy at Lepie's.

A Holiday Special

Thanksgiving Day, when everyone puts on her best "bib and tucker" and prepares for a merry feast, you'll want a gay new frock. The Studio Apparel Shop, 110 Tremont St., 4th floor, Opp. Russo's, has some stunning offerings at $16.75. Gay new Dresden prints, bolero style, with contrasting colors, and plain colors in the new jewel shades, with flaring skirts and snug hiplines. You will thrill at the swank of them. For $10.75 you may have a smart-looking two-piece silk-tweed in burgundy or tan. Ravishing transparent velvets, cream of this season's most popular materials, are $25.

The Easy Way

To the intelligent woman who is willing to devote a few minutes daily to the care of her complexion, Dr. John Post's System of "Facial Rejuvenation" offers the easiest way to lasting facial loveliness. Skin and Beauty Specialists the world over admit that Dr. Post's system and preparations are the best that scientific skill can produce for cultivating beauty, lasting youth, and a skin radiating with a pink satin-like smoothness and the glow of youth. For appointment, call Mrs. Gardner, Mgr. Medical and Facial Depts., Haymarket 1647. $5.00 demonstration facial for $2.00. Post Institute, 6 Beacon St., Room 910.

Something to Be Thankful for —at Lesley's, whose motto is "the best for less." I have discovered an unbelievable value here, Anne—really there is no describing—you must see their hosiery for yourself before you can appreciate its value. For Lesley's has an all-silk sheer chiffon stocking, full-fashioned and pure silk for $1.03. This hosiery cannot be duplicated at a much higher price. Their service-weight, full fashioned, are marvelous buys at 99 cents and $1.19. A special lot of only 250 pairs of regular $3.75 extra sheer chiffon hose, is offered at $1.98—a true Thanksgiving value at Lesley's, 610 Washington St.

Just in Time

for the holidays! I was fairly breathless when I dropped into Allyn's Dress Shop, 41 Winter St., and saw the group of dresses formerly $15 to $29.50 that have been reduced to $6.95! Think of it—only $6.95—why you can scarcely buy the material for that. This group consists of georgettes, flat crepes, chiffons and other novelty materials in sizes from 14 to 40. They are made with swirling circulars or pleats—two-piece or straight lines. During this sale they are also featuring a special group at $13.75, including the new leather prints, georgettes, chiffons and crepes. Take my advice and get there early, Anne.

Rouse Your Skin

with a toning facial! Rita looked so fresh and glowing yesterday that I thought she must have had a mid-season vacation, but she told me she had just been to Miss Ella Whitney, Room 703, in the Dexter Building, for a facial, and that is why she looked so rested and clear-skinned. Miss Whitney's facials are priced at $1.00, and she also gives a marvelous scalp treatment. Your hair needs special attention now, Anne, with the close, tight-fitting hats. Shampoos are priced $1 for long hair and 75c for bobbed. Miss Whitney's marcels and finger waves nestle most becomingly to the contour of the head. For appointment call Hub. 1439.

Of Course

you are going to be dressed up for Thanksgiving—everyone is—with a wave, and a manicure, and possibly a facial, so why not go to Gilchrist's Beauty Parlor (third floor) where they give the most becoming "stay-in" marcels for $1, and smart fingerwaves to "set" your permanent for $1.25. Komplex Facials that take away those tired, harried lines, strengthen the muscles of the face, and leave the skin glowing with rosy transparency are priced $2. Plain facials, $1. Manicuring is 40 cents. Hair-bobbing by skilful barbers is 50 cents. Gilchrist's Inecto (Notox) hair dye will restore your hair to its natural color in one treatment.

Revive Last Year's

dresses, my Anne, by having them cleansed or dyed at the Arlington Dye Works, whose in-town offices are at 59 Temple Pl. and 37 Park Sq. Bldg. Arcade. Their work is unexcelled, and they give prompt service. Just call Arl. 4600 (main office) and a motor bus will call at your door to take away your soiled clothing and return it fresh and new. Your plain cloth dress, and also men's suits and topcoats can be cleaned for the unusually low price of $1. That last year's frock of yours, sun-faded or discolored, can be dyed one of this season's popular colors at a very reasonable price. The Arlington Dye Works have many branches, conveniently located.

Party Frocks for Matron and Miss

In anticipation of holiday gayeties the Spanish Galleries of Chandler & Co. have opened a new section entirely devoted to evening gowns for the matron, at the remarkably low price of $15. They are designed in youthfully dignified lines, in softly becoming, harmonious colors; raspberry, jade, blue, tan and black. These gowns, with circular godets and fitted hiplines, or scalloped overdrapes, velvet trimmed, have detachable long sleeves, and can also be worn as afternoon frocks. The taffeta frocks for misses, as crisp as a November breeze, come in all the vibrant, youthful evening shades. Bouffant styles with tiers of ruffles ending in a long back dip. Billowy frocks with the new cocktail capes scintillating with opalescence, have uneven hemlines faced with a contrasting color. The quaint new peplum frock has become a great favorite, and a gown of lacy ruffles over pink georgette transforms a sweet young girl into a picture. All these gowns are unbelievable values at $15. For the junior miss just "stepping out" to high school parties there are some cobwebby lace frocks over dainty colors, priced $10. The Spanish Galleries are surely prepared to face the season's social barrage—even to the $10 Dress Section, where you will find a charming assortment of taffetas, taffeta and tulle combinations and georgettes.

The Lure of a Mellow Glow

and a crackling fireplace—who can resist it, Anne? Not any comfort-loving creature—especially if the glow is from a slender bridge lamp with an adjustable shade and convenient ash tray. Spaulding Moss Company, 42 Franklin St., has reaped a harvest of Christmas suggestions, and these attractive Colonial side-arm bridge lamps, with a 10-inch decorated paper parchment shade are priced at only $6.00. If your hobby is lamp shades you will revel in this shop, where there are all sorts of designs and effects. I saw a beautiful, real parchment 12-inch shade bell-shaped, with modernistic decorations, an unusual value at $1.50. For the traveler, or stay-at-home interested in "far-away views," a special lot of superior binoculars has just been received, with carrying case and strap, priced only $15.00. Bookends in imitation brass and bronze finish, with reproductions of the Angelus, the Thinker, Old Ironsides and Rheims Cathedral, are priced at $1.00. Spaulding Moss Company has a marvelous assortment of gift novelties on their $1.00 gift shelf that includes gay-colored waste baskets, in the convenient oval shape, smoking sets, writing sets, bridge novelties—all sorts of ideal and practical gifts for $1.00. They are worth dropping in to see—and buy—Anne.

Could the "Giftie Gie Us"

a more charming, eloquent expression of good taste or thoughtfulness than an exquisite perfume—one that blends with the personality of the one to whom it is given? I think not, my Anne. Filene's Perfume Department (first floor) has an unbelievably large holiday assortment of all the most popular scents—flowery, spicy, or subtle, in large or small quantities, at prices agreeable to all purses. Coty's very newest creation, "L'Aimant," a magnetic, adventurous perfume, that comes in a cut crystal bottle, is priced $5. L'Aimant Talc, imbuing all the forcefulness of the perfume in powder-form, is $1. "Evening in Paris," one of the most popular of the newer perfumes, hinting of scintillating mystery, and subtle allure, in a small flacon, is priced $1. Houbigant's "Au Matin," as refreshing as tinkling laughter, combines the scent of jasmine and lily-of-the-valley, and is priced at $5 an ounce, $10 a bottle. Talc of this odor is 75c. What joy is not enkindled, or half-forgotten memory more poignantly revived by the haunting fragrance of an elusive perfume. It is a most acceptable "luxury gift" and one by which you will always be remembered. So, "remember me" with perfume, Anne.

Winter Is a Witch

that lends a sparkle to the eye and a vivacious rosiness to the cheek—if we are comfortably, snugly clad—or—shrouds us in a frosty blue, and sends unlovely shivers through us if we are not properly prepared to face its bleakness. Scott Furriers, Inc., New England's Largest Fur Establishment, located at 69 Summer St., Boston, and 51 Pratt St., Hartford, have an unlimited stock of glorious, flattering fur coats, in prices that range from $90 to $795, and their three plans for making payments bring fur coats within the reach of everyone. (1) You may pay cash. (2) You may open a 30, 60 or 90-day charge account, or (3) you may join Scott's Unique Fur Club and make small weekly or monthly payments while wearing your coat. Scott Furriers are well known, not only to New Englanders, but also to far-away folks, and they have many customers from all over the United States who know and appreciate their fair dealing and dependability. There are no imitation or inferior furs in Scott's collection. They will allow you a generous allowance on your old fur coat, and make no charge for alterations on a new one. For the benefit of out-of-towners, and for those whose days are occupied, Scott's remains open every evening until 9 o'clock.

I Am Most Anxious to tell you about a very unusual little beauty shop, Anne—the shop of an artist in beauty culture. It is Bertha's Beauty Salon, 100 Boylston St. Bertha, whose European training and experience, and former connection with an illustrious New York establishment, assure you of unusual skill in beautifying hair and complexions. Her facial ideas, new to Boston, but well-known abroad, remove all shadowing, workaday lines and restore a glowing youthfulness. Dandruff can be overcome with her new Parisian oil treatment for dry hair. If you are looking for a new bob to typify your own sweet style, call Bertha's Beauty Salon, Cap. 6227, for appointment.

I've Had a Lesson

in hosiery-buying today, Anne, at Thayer McNeil & Co., 47 Temple Pl., and I learned the importance of their wonderful, regular $2 silk stockings at $1.65 a pair—or 2 for $5. The sheer, filmy chiffon will thrill you with their misty loveliness, and the exquisite service weight is "just right" for colder weather. These pure silk stockings retain their lustre after washing and have re-inforced toe and step-up guards, and their seams are slender and firm. That enchanting new veiled shade, "Chamelion," which borrows its tone from the color it touches, will solve the problem of many perplexed Christmas givers.

Headsizes at $3.50!

20, 20½, 21, 21½, 22, 23, 23½! The most satisfactory plan nowadays, Anne, is to buy your hats according to size. The Hudson Wearing Apparel, 469 Washington St., has had such marvelous success in pleasing the public, since they have devoted their entire main floor to hats that fit the head, at $3.50, that they are making friends of their customers every day, simply because they give style, quality and plenty of service that at $3.50 cannot be duplicated. These hats are hand-made of French Felt, in all the popular styles—cut-aways, off-the-face, and draped, in all the desired new shades, including moss and aster.

The Great Adventure

when you wait—breathless—while "he" decides on that sparkling stone. Of course you will want to feel perfectly confident in the services and advice of an expert dealer in DIAMONDS, so why not see Alice E. Galvin, stylist in jewelry, whose invaluable experience and reliable knowledge of diamonds will be of the greatest benefit to you. If your Christmas gift to the "only" girl—or boy is going to be a watch, Alice Galvin's selection of American and Imported Movements include the smartest wrist and pocket styles. Your diamonds in their old-fashioned settings will gleam with new life if you have them reset in 18 Karat White Gold or Platinum by ALICE E. GALVIN, Room 305, 387 Washington St.

Holiday Hats

Suzanne Wright, Shop 310, 26 West St., has been fashioning hats to fit the head for lo! these many years, Anne. In fact, she tells me that is the way she always made her hats, and now that they have become so popular she is deftly capable of fashioning you a hat—on the head—in any style, for $7.50 and up. I saw some gorgeous Soleils with striking inlays of contrasting colors, and velvets cleverly stitched and draped. Unusual looking hats, made in her own workroom, trimmed with calfskin, silk beaver, or cunningly appliqued, are being cleared at $5 and $7.50. You can have your last year's felt or velour reconstructed from $3.00 up.

Such a Pretty Girl

is Jean. It seems a pity that she doesn't do something about those unsightly superfluous hairs about her face and chin. She could have them all removed—painlessly—and forever—if she would only visit my friend, Miss Elizabeth E. Sparkes, Room 602, 120 Tremont St.—and her face would reflect a clarity and freshness entirely new. Miss Sparkes is an expert in her work, and you will glory in the refinement and privacy of her office. Her rates are reasonable and she cordially invites you to call upon her and discuss your own particular hirsute problems. Tel. Han. 7592.

A Gift Suggestion

for Christmas. What could be more acceptable than a permanent wave? They have become an absolute necessity—so why not include them in the list of "gift hints." At Strati's, 41 Winter St., 7th floor, (for a limited time) you may purchase a permanent wave certificate for $8.00. This includes a shampoo, cut, finger or water wave, with a choice of the Frederic Vita-Tonic or LeMur Methods, for which Strati's is famous. To banish the first silvery signs of Time—grey hairs—Strati's Paragon compound is unexcelled, and will positively restore your faded or streaked hair to its natural shade. Tel. Lib. 9443.

Every Woman

will be pleased to know about the low priced section of the Jordan Marsh Company's Modern Shoe Shop, fourth floor, main store. Here style is not limited by price. I was truly amazed to find many of this season's smartest shoes marked at the low price of $6.00. Included are popular models in satin, patent, calf, crepe de chine, brocaded satin, silver kid, and a generous proportion of the favored suedes in black, brown and burgundy. There are some pumps with genuine cut steel buckles. These shoes are all designed to express new and different detail.

New! Newer! Newest!

are the bright, fashion-tempting dresses at EVELYN'S Dress Shop, 8 Winter St., for Thanksgiving festivities. Gay, prismatic colors in dominating styles, sure to lend a graceful motion to the wearer. "Missy" dresses, Miss Evelyn calls these chiffons, georgettes and flat crepes, and they are amazingly priced at only $13.75. Also at this price is a suprising array of the new Porcelain Flower, Crossstitch and Charcoal Prints. Plain, bright-colored frocks of flat crepe, and dark colored ones, brightly embroidered, peasant fashion, are $8.75. The much-favored 3-piece knitted suits are priced at $9.50. There are still some rare bargains in on the $5.00 rack.

"Clear as Alabaster"

What greater compliment could be paid to a fair, white skin, Anne. Your skin can be kept clear and glowing with a youthful translucence by the use of Lemon Cleansing Cream, a preparation made expressly for Meyer Jonasson Co., and which is priced at only 50c. Lemon Cleansing Cream has an astonishing effect in loosening the dust and grime which becomes imbedded, and in clearing clogged pores. This cream may be left on from 10 to 15 minutes, and you will be amazed at the clarity of your skin when it is removed. "Facel" Tissues, 230 for $1, give the greatest satisfaction for removing creams, as they do not wrinkle.

Bits o' Loveliness

Oh, Anne, if you want to buy some adorable undies for gift-giving—alluring black georgette chemises with intriguing lace bodice and inserts for only $4.50—and chemises in fairy-like pastel colors nestling tiny rosebuds for $2.95—or—dainty georgette stepins, lacey and be-ribboned for $1.95—then be sure you visit the Gay Silk Underwear Shop, Rm. 76, 41 Winter St. All these bits of loveliness are hand made, and they have an enticing array of pajama ensembles, and negligees of sleeky crepe satin. Their first quality pure silk sheer chiffon stockings, all colors, at $1 are perfectly shaped to insure trim, dal veils, fashioned to the head, a full line of imported misty bridal veils fashioned to the head, priced $7.50 and up.

And so, my Anne, garlands o' green, with bright red berries peeking through and twinkling candles—breath of Christmas are glorifying the shops—promising great things for the early Christmas shopper—even before the "groaning board" is set for Thanksgiving. I can already taste that sizzling, succulent turkey and gloat with delight in anticipation of that smoking luscious plum pudding. So wishing "you and yours" the happiest of all Thanksgivings, I am,

Your devoted,

Priscilla.

FIVE CHILDREN RESCUED AS 3 FIRES RAGE

Griffin six months and John Griffin, three, were rescued by their father William H Griffin, and taken to the home of neighbors.

The fire itself did considerable damage to the building and its contents, and the smoke drove the occupants of duplex houses on either side to the street.

A 21-year-old girl, braving the rapid advance of flames, warned 50 lodgers in the Olympia Chambers Lynn, today, as a fire for which two alarms were sounded, swept the lodging house and the Olympia Theater.

The heroine of the Lynn fire was Helen Bunker, daughter of the owner of the Olympia Chambers, at Washington st., Andrew st. and Central ave., in the heart of the city. When she heard the crackling of the flames in the theater next door she ran through the hallway arousing the 50 lodgers.

Miss Hattie Burns, on the third floor, did not get up, and Sergts. Hines and Duggan carried her to safety. Damage to the Olympia Theater was estimated by the manager at $30,000.

M'NUTT TO BE LEGION'S HONOR GUEST ON JAN. 19

National Commander Paul V. McNutt will be the guest of honor at the annual get-to-gether of the State department of the American Legion in Boston, January 19, Legion headquarters announced today.

Legion officials took occasion to warn the public against fake solicitation for flags. One complaint from a downtown restaurant man was to the effect that a man representing himself to be of the Legion "flag-ways," collected $9.75 for a flag for sidewalk display and never delivered.

District Manager Frank McGlynn, whose office is at 40 Broad st., was also notified and hurried to the ship. There was some question as to whether the freighter, which plies between New York, Boston and the Pacific coast, would be permitted to sail.

All three were seen by other members of the crew up to 6 o'clock last night, Bass and Montediabo being together.

ADMITS STORY ABOUT POLICEMAN WAS HOAX

It took two days to do it, but Braintree police today forced a confession from Thomas Frongello of East Braintree that his story of five men impersonating policemen wrecking his step-father's home and firing two shots was all a hoax.

Frongello even named a Boston policeman as leader, but today said he named the officer because the officer was the only one whose name he had ever heard. Police have dropped the case.

SALESMAN GETS BACK "RIGHT FOOT" SHOES

Max Spector, a shoe salesman of Cheney st., Dorchester reported the theft of 50 shoes Saturday from the back seat of his parked automobile. Spector said he felt no concern; inasmuch as the shoes were all built to fit the right foot, he thought the thief, learning of his error, would return them.

Thirty-two of the shoes were returned today.

UNITED SHOE MACHINERY VETERAN PASSES AWAY

Daniel S. Knowlton, for many years in the employ of the United Shoe Machinery Corporation, died today in Brookline, after a brief illness. He is survived by his wife, Alice Joyce Knowlton, and a son and daughter, Hugh Knowlton and Mrs. William Zinsser, both of Great Neck, N. Y. The funeral will be held from St. Paul's Church, Brookline, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Two Ways to Avoid Sour Stomach

PAMPERING the stomach as you grow older is one way to keep out of trouble! But it's far more pleasant to eat what you choose, and let Pape's Diapepsin keep the stomach free from excess acid. Plenty of people past "three-score-and-ten" keep stomachs young because they know this one secret.

Because it is so quick, so safe and so sure in ending digestive troubles, millions rely on "Pape's Diapepsin." "Pape's Diapepsin" is unequalled as an indigestion remedy and dietary corrective, yet it costs only 60 cents a package at all druggists.

If your stomach ever torments you get "Pape's Diapepsin" at once and recapture the pleasure of care-free, painless digestion. You may have felt that nothing can help your particular difficulty, but so have others to whom this remedy proved a pleasant surprise. This experiment with diapepsin may do as much for you.

Part of childhood's memories...

There are countless thousands of active, energetic men and women today, in all walks of life, to whom the name Coward is as familiar as the name of the town where they were born. To them the periodic visits to the Coward store to get shoes are part of the whole glamorous background of childhood and early youth.

For generations, intelligent mothers have brought their boys and girls here for their shoes. These mothers have not always been in easy circumstances, but they all were wise. They knew it would be cruel folly to economize by encasing the sensitive, plastic feet of their boys and girls in any but the finest of children's shoes.

And that, inevitably, brought them to Coward. Many of our customers today tell us they were raised in Cowards. In most cases it is obvious that they must have been. Fine, normal feet—straight toes, high arches, freedom from deforming bunions and corns—such are the feet that wore Cowards through the formative years of life.

Your children today need the best shoes that scientific designing can create. Coward has always been acknowledged the leader in creating just such shoes.

HOOVER GIVEN GOOD TIME IN HONDURAS

Hoover party will then be taken back to the Maryland which will resume its course southward.

An official statement was issued in which Mr. Hoover explained why his schedule did not include stops at the capitals of all the countries he will visit. It read as follows.

"Mr. Hoover deeply regrets his inability to visit the capital cities in each instance. Conditions of anchorage, distance by rail and other conditions make it impossible in some cases. It is always Mr. Hoover's desire to pay friendly calls upon officials of the various governments on the soil of the countries themselves.

"After the three countries mentioned herein, Honduras, Salvador and Costa Rica, have been visited, the next stop will be for a call in Ecuador. The Maryland cannot go within 70 miles of Guayaquil, the principal port of Ecuador.

"Mr. Hoover has insisted upon landing on Ecuadorean soil. It was found impossible to use the ship's small boats for such a long journey, and it would take too long for an Ecuadorean gunboat to meet us and transport the party.

DEMURRER OVERRULED IN LEE, HIGGINSON SUIT

Judge Christopher C. Callahan in Superior court today overruled the demurrer of defendants in the $2,000,000 suit brought by Margaret Barney of Braintree against Lee, Higginson & Co.

She seeks to recover $1,000,000 as a 1 per cent commission and interest for giving the names and other information concerning two German banks for whom the defendants floated a loan of $100,000,000. By coutr order the plaintiff must amend her declaration by striking out the sentence that she had authority to negotiate the loans.

His clothing was burned, and he was taken to Lynn Hospital, where his name was placed on the danger list. Firemen from Engine 1, a few doors away, put out the fire.

A. F. L. TO ACT ON IMMIGRATION PROBLEM

New Orleans, Nov. 26 (AP)—Tightening of the bars against immigration into the United States was scheduled for discussion today before the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor.

A number of resolutions pertaining to immigration have been presented to the resolution committee, which is ready to report at today's sessions.

Other resolutions before the committee call for passage by Congress of the Kellogg peace treaty and Boulder Dam legislation, and for the release of Tom Mooney from his California prison, where he is serving a life sentence for murder.

The immigration resolutions propose that the quota provisions of the immigration law apply to Mexico, Latin-American countries and islands adjacent to the United States. Another urges enforcement of immigration restrictions against "aliens residing in Canada." An additional resolution states that "all nations should be placed under the allowances now applied to certain European countries to the end that employers may not be permitted to flood the country with cheap labor."

Supper on Holiday

THE first law of those who serve Thanksgiving suppers is that the meal should have no flavor of leftovers from the noonday feast.

Nothing is more delicious than thinly sliced cold boiled ham, if you use judgment in choosing your brand. Our favorite is a ham of delicious juicy tenderness and of a mild sweet flavor which only comes from careful selection, unhurried sugar-curing and just the right degree of smoking over smouldering hickory.

It is usually most economical to buy a whole ham and have your butcher cut a slice or more from the center for broiling or frying. Save the butt end for baking and boil the shank end. You do not need to soak this brand of ham for its mild cure makes freshening or parboiling undesirable lest it lose some of its fine flavoring.

Put the shank end of the ham in a kettle, cover with cold water, and heat slowly to boiling point. Then cook slowly, allowing one-half hour for each pound of ham. Let stand in the water. When cool remove skin and slice thin.

Right Way For Tea

THERE is really only one right way to make tea so as to enjoy all its delicious flavor. First, rinse out the tea pot with boiling water. Second, put one teaspoon of tea in the pot for each cup of tea.

Third, pour fresh boiled, bubbling water on the tea leaves. Fourth, steep for five or six minutes and serve promptly. Always serve with milk or cream. One pound of my favorite orange pekoe tea makes 200 cups, making the cost per cup really less than a third of a cent.

Surely little enough for the enjoyment and refreshment most women obtain from their cup of cheer.

The degree of enjoyment we get from our tea depends both upon the method of its brew and upon what brand you buy.

We choose the orange pekoe you'll find in the Martha Lee Kitchen because we know that this tea is made from the finest crops, blended with skill and accuracy. It is the choice of hundreds of thousands of discriminating tea drinkers the world over.

If you will try this tea and try our method of making it, we can assure you a delightful invigorating drink for every occasion. Perhaps you are making tea almost exactly according to these directions and yet not quite.

COHASSET FIRE SHUTS SCHOOL

Students in Cohasset high school were today given an unexpected holiday which will probably last several weeks, as a result of a fire shortly before the session began.

The blaze was caused by a defective flue.

The flames broke out on the roof, giving the firemen a stubborn battle, and causing damage estimated at $20,000.

RUSH CLARA BOW TO HOSPITAL

Glendale, Cal., Nov. 26 (INS)—Clara Bow, the original "It" girl of the screen, was taken from the Southern Pacific Lark train here today and rushed in an ambulance to a hospital.

Miss Bow attended the Stanford-California football game Saturday at Berkeley and was taken ill with influenza shortly afterward.

She was carried to the train in an ambulance. She was attended by a special nurse on the all-night trip to the southland.

Her nurse declared Miss Bow was running a high fever.

FAVORS DIVORCE FOR MAID IN HALL CASE

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 26 (INS)—Special Master Schuyler A. van Cleff today filed in the Chancery Court here a report recommending a divorce be granted to Mrs. Louise Geis Riehl, former maid in the Hall home at the time of the unsolved Hall-Mills murder.

Mrs. Riehl charged her husband married her to obtain information he believed she possessed regarding the murder. In the report filed today, Judge Van Cleff says he is convinced that Riehl was interested only in what Miss Geist might be able to tell him about the murder, and selling to newspapers information he might obtain.

AMNESIA WOMAN SAYS SHE IS AMELIA SILVIA

The woman found on the steps of St. Joseph's Church in the West End Saturday night gave her name today to physicians of the Massachusetts General hospital as "Amelia Silvia."

The name was communicated to all Boston police and a canvass of families named Silvia was started. According to hospital physicians the woman is a sufferer from amnesia.

The taste of sun-ripened fruit . . .

THE flavor of pure Jamaica ginger! That's what makes Chelmsford Ginger Ale so good. Of course it costs more to make ginger ale that way—but Chelmsford does it because it means such a difference in quality.

And you are asked to pay no more than for "cheap," inferior ginger ales. Chelmsford is the largest-selling brand in New England. Volume sales are the reason the price can be so low. Try this delightful, sparkling ginger ale. At all grocery, confectionery and drug stores. Golden Ginger and Pale Dry. Order a case for the pantry. Wonderfully economical and wonderfully convenient. Just tell them "Chelmsford."

AMAZING BARGAINS IN WORLD'S BEST PIANOS

See this player and save $100

This Player cost a lot of money new. It is real good.

I have just purchased 250 pianos from a big New York manufacturer who was overstocked and forced to sell at a loss. This loss is your gain.

Among them will be found high-class uprights, players, grands, reproducing grands, at prices that will astound you.

The Constitution of the United States declares that full faith and credit shall be given in each State, to the public acts, records and judicial findings of every other State.

In other words the courts of the United States take judicial notice of certain recorded facts, not requiring specific proof of them.

The people of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts as well as all New England take notice of my piano sales because of the proven facts of my 25 years of square dealing and they know that when I advertise a sale of pianos at twenty-five or fifty cents on the dollar it is always a genuine good faith offer and its truthfulness is guaranteed by their knowledge of my 25 years of good faith piano dealing. Now is the time to make the attempt and secure your Christmas piano, which will be stored free until you want it delivered. It was a wise man who said "Our doubts are traitors that make us lose the good we oft might win by fearing to attempt."

It is common knowledge that my prices are closest and my terms easiest on these high grade pianos. Come in. I will help you every step of the way to own a real bargain in this stupendous money saving sale, beginning Monday, Nov. 26th.

Remember, it's a Steinway and this season's greatest bargain.

FLIGHTS and FLIERS

by George W. Hamblin

We sincerely hope that the Harvard and Yale rooters had a good time at their little party down at New Haven [illegible] we were [illegible] [illegible] the various [illegible] of the Boston Airport.

Five [illegible] [illegible] Consolidated [illegible] down, landing at [illegible] [illegible] at Westfield, Conn. Capt. [illegible] Hodge took [illegible] [illegible] in a National Guard O-17. Adolph M. Bergstrom and August Palestine [illegible] in the Boston Airport's two Whirlwind Travel Airs, both [illegible] returning to Boston after completing their runs.

S [illegible] sent a Searman down with Andy Ivanoff and R. M. [illegible] in the front cockpit and [illegible] Lover on flying. Capt. Albert L. Edson took E. W. Steer down in the latter's [illegible] Scimens W [illegible] 10.

All the Whirlwind motored ships of the Airport Corp. were busy on cross-country flights last Saturday. Wickford went down to New York Friday night in the Fairchild, and when he returned Saturday morning, he was sent right out again carrying Mr. DeMuth, of the DeMuth Aircraft Co., and Col. Gathrie, famous Canadian ace during the war.

Capt. Harry Lyon, navigator on the flight of the Southern Cross from 'Frisco to Australia, tells us that a certain party in New Bedford is an ardent admirer of him and writes him volumes of letters every week. This person, I think it's a she, signs herself "Just Me," and Capt. Lyon is getting quite a kick out the whole performance.

THE QUESTION BOX

(Questions pertaining to aviation will be answered in this column every Monday. Address your queries to "Flights and Fliers," Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston.)

Q.—How soon after I sign for a course in flying can I begin taking lessons? S. H. T.

Belmont.

A.—Even before you sign up for a flying course, you must take a physical examination from a doctor specified by the Department of Commerce, and you must be in perfect shape or you won't be allowed to step into an airplane to take instruction. This is called a "Student Pilot's license." Outside of this, you may begin your instructions immediately.

STANDARDIZED CHASSIS IN ALL PHILCO SETS

The Philadelphia Storage Battery [illegible], makers of the new [illegible] "neutrodyne plus" radio set, are pursuing the [illegible] policy of [illegible] the same type of chassis for [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] same instrument will be found therein.

"The common practice has been to build a set to fit, so to speak, the demand of the public for sets within a certain well defined price limits," says Watson J. Walker, president of the Walker Indian Company, local Philco agents. "This method of set production brought a number of radios on the market under the same trade name which [illegible] with varying degrees of perfection. We decided to take a start with a single chassis.

"To put one chassis in all models was a big decision to make in favor of the public, but we all gain by it in several ways. In the first place, by making all chassis the same the production cost is substantially reduced for each set, making it possible to put so good a set within the popular price range. In the larger models the economy is used to make a finer and more finished cabinet when that type of housing is desired."

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Keep Up With New England Business

NEW ENGLAND is neither static nor stagnant. The fact is, New England industry, in general, is dynamic —throbbing with life and change.

Ten days ago, in Portland, the New England Council published reports covering industrial developments during 1927, in 266 New England communities, comprising 70% of New England's population. What did they show?

In that year, 58 communities reported loss, through failure or removal, of 217 industries which had employed 18,924 people.

But—

In that same year, 149 communities reported 483 new industries employing 26,511 workers.

Net gain: 266 industries; 7587 employees!

About the first order a new enterprise places is for its telephones. Hence our Telephone Directories are the key to new business, as use of the telephone itself is the key to the new markets.

These keys are ready to your hand.

Telephone service to out-of-town points is speedy, dependable, reasonably priced. Consult the Business Telephone Directory. Calls by number for any telephone listed in this book may be placed exactly like a local call. Such calls contribute to fast service and take our lowest rate.

Health is in peril when gums break down

Life without good health is bankrupt. So it's important that you provide protection against the stealthy attack of dread diseases that start in neglected gums. For they ravage health. They often cause loss of teeth. Do this:

Buy protection—the best care of modern dentistry. See your dentist every six months. Brush your teeth daily—with your favorite tooth paste if you wish. But don't forget it is equally as important to brush your gums. For this purpose, use Forhan's for the Gums—the dentifrice designed to firm gums and keep them healthy, thus warding off disease.

Use this dentifrice morning and night. The way it makes your gums look and feel will delight you. And you cannot help but notice how effectively it cleans teeth white and protects them from acids which cause decay. Get a tube of Forhan's from your druggist—today.

★ 4 out of 5 after 40 and many younger sacrifice health to grim Pyorrhea.

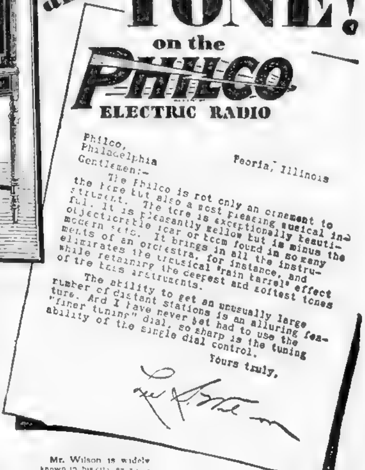
Distance! Selectivity and TONE! on the PHILCO ELECTRIC RADIO



Philco,
Philadelphia Peoria, Illinois
Gentlemen:—

The Philco is not only an ornament to the home but also a most pleasing musical instrument. The tone is exceptionally beautiful. It is pleasantly mellow but is minus the objectionable roar or boom found in so many modern sets. It brings in all the instruments of an orchestra, for instance, and eliminates the unmusical "rain barrel" effect while retaining the deepest and softest tones of the bass instruments.

The ability to get an unusually large number of distant stations is an alluring feature. And I have never yet had to use the "finer tuning" dial, so sharp is the tuning ability of the single dial control.

Yours truly,

Mr. Wilson is widely known in his city as a soloist and choir leader. His letter is one of many coming to us every day from all parts of the country, uttering words of praise for the Philco.

Wonderful Selectivity

Gentlemen—

I have had a good many radios in my home, but I have never had any quite as selective as the Philco. I find it very easy at almost any time to tune in between thirty and forty stations.

Powerful stations which usually tune very broadly I can tune out within one or two points on the Philco dial. This wonderful selectivity seems to be the outstanding feature of my set although the tone quality and distance-getting ability leave nothing to be desired.

J. DIXON DAVIS
Cincinnati, Ohio

Daytime Reception

The first night the Philco was in my home I turned the dial and heard music. I certainly was surprised when I heard the announcer say KFI Los Angeles. It came in as loud as any of the local stations.

During the day my wife gets many stations such as Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, [illegible] stations with low power. We are certainly pleased.

32 Stations— Atlanta to Japan

I have become an ardent radio fan in the months we have had a Philco. With only an inside aerial, we have received 32 stations from Atlanta, Ga., to Japan. They all come in exceptionally clear and with a lot of volume.

Wilce Quits Ohio After 16 Years

Columbus, O., Nov. 26 (AP)—Dr. John W. Wilce is giving "full consideration" to several coaching offers and his future plans "will be shaped by conferences in Chicago and New York during the next three weeks." He said he was prepared to relinquish his position as head football coach at Ohio State University after 16 years of service.

Dr. Wilce has not decided whether to continue coaching or to practice medicine, he said. He refused to comment on a report that Harvard was offering him Arnold Horween's position, that Dartmouth and Nebraska had made advances or that he would reconsider resignation which is effective in June, if he were asked to do so.

"My future will be shaped by events of the next three weeks," he said. "Until after the Western Conference meeting at Chicago and the Intercollegiate Association meeting in New York, I am not at liberty to say what I plan. Conferences which I am to have at these meetings, particularly the one in New York, will determine my future course."

For this international tournament Tim Kirby announced last night that Tom McNeeley of Cambridge and Harry Allen of Brockton will represent the Hub in the 175 pound class, while Jake Hicks of Roxbury has been picked as one of the boxers in the 160 pound class.

Harvard Is Happy
Two Great Backs
And Fine Team

Eagles Unbeaten
Tough Game Ahead
Lots of Excitement

By NICK FLATLEY

HARVARD WELL SET FOR 1929 CAMPAIGN

HARVARD loses two of her greatest backs next June when Art French and Dave Guarnaccia are graduated. But the two can pass on to the game known as Life, with the happy knowledge that they blazed the trail for the return of Crimson gridiron glory.

For three years these two young athletes have been playing great football. But until the 1928 team clicked in the Dartmouth and Yale games, the world had little chance to know it. In these games, the powerful Harvard line worked as a unit; the other backs carried out their interference assignments. The big pair glittered like a couple of bonfires on the desecrated turf of the Yale Bowl.

Nick Flatley

Arthur and Dave kept plugging away through two doleful years, but considered themselves more than rewarded as they carried the football up and down the New Haven lawn. No two backs ever put in a harder or more brilliant day's work. French flitted like a shadow and hit like a truck all through that game. Guarnaccia, iron man, battered and ploughed along like an army tank.

One could write columns about the two, but it is sufficient to remark that their big day will always be mentioned prominently in Harvard annals. They took the lateral pass, most severely criticized of all football plays, and made Yale look foolish. They had wonderful assistance from the whole blazing team.

It was only fair that their years of effort should be rewarded with a Yale win. It was justice, too, to Tim Clark, who has been an outstanding tackle right through his grid career. And the same goes for Pickard, the other senior regular, who recovered that first all important fumble, and started the Crimson on the dazzling parade to fame.

Harvard will have a fine squad to start off with next fall. Putnam blossomed out as a great quarterback and a remarkably accurate drop kicker. Barrett, O'Connell, the Ticknors and Trainer will all be back. So will the inspiring memories of that 17 to 0 triumph.

Coach Horween, or Casey, or Hubbard, as the case may be, will start off with a squad that expects victory. Which is at least 50 per cent better than a crowd that hopes against hope for enough luck to win. The bright gridiron years seem to be coming back to Harvard.

THE POOR ELIS WERE DUCK SOUP IN THE BOWL.

What a difference a couple of touchdowns make. A few days ago Arnold Horween was on the pan. Now the previous knockers admit that Haughton himself could not have turned out a better team.

NOW FOR MERRY GRID TITLE DEBATE

THE attention of the football world will be turned on Boston College this week. The big Eagles have been victorious in all their games. They have not been tied. No other large team in the East has such a claim to fame. With the exception of Navy, the McKenney team was not stacked against any of the topnotchers.

But the athletes took the schedule as they found it, and swept along in a fashion that left no doubt of their class and power. They have the final and toughest obstacle to hurdle—Holy Cross.

The Purple hasn't been much of a scoring outfit this year, but it has been one of the best defensive teams in the country. It produced one of the most stubborn lines in the land to hold Harvard to a scoreless tie. Weston and Creedon and the other Eagles will earn all the yards they gain Saturday.

If Boston College can win this one, as it should, it will have a clean slate, but its claim for the eastern title will start more arguments than prohibition. Teams like Army, Carnegie, N. Y. U. and Penn have been beaten once, but their schedules were something to get headaches over.

The debate on this matter will wax far into the new year, but if Boston College slaps down the Crusaders, it will have a perfect record. Which is always a good point before any jury.

YALE WILL BE EXCUSED IF IT STARTS TO CHIRP ABOUT THE OVEREMPHASIS OF FOOTBALL. BUT THE ELIS SELDOM ALIBI, GENERALLY, BECAUSE THEY DON'T HAVE TO.

With 20 or more "perfect" candidates for each position, the All-American pickers will now proceed to worry for a week or so.

PLENTY OF FOOD FOR EXCITEMENT EATERS

THE final week of football will have its full share of thrills in this corner of the universe. The B. C. game Saturday will pack Fenway Park, unless a few blizzards come down from Greenland. And the Brown-Colgate collision Thanksgiving will be quite a grid war. It always is.

Then there are a dozen or more schoolboy skirmishes on the day the turkeys would like to have removed from the calendar. All these Thanksgiving rows are matters of tradition and history, with feelings of participants and partisans running just as wild as ever they do in college tilts.

Life for the sport fan is just a merry whirl nowadays. In addition to the football, the Bruins are home again tomorrow, while that new Garden will be jammed once more Friday when Jimmy Maloney and Johnny Risko start shooting for the tender spot on the chin.

This particular scrap shapes up like one of the biggest jousts ever put on in Boston. The winner will be right there for a shot at the vacated title.

TIGERS-INDIANS ON ARENA ICE THURSDAY

Boston Tigers, having gained a triple tie for first place in the Canadian-American hockey league, are looking forward to their engagement Thursday night at the Arena with the undefeated Springfield Indians.

They have been blazing a hot trail through the league, having scored 13 goals to their opponents' five.

The Thanksgiving night game is the only engagement on the Tiger schedule this week. Manager Eddie Powers will continue his plan of daily practice in the effort to improve still further the Tigers' teamplay and conditions.

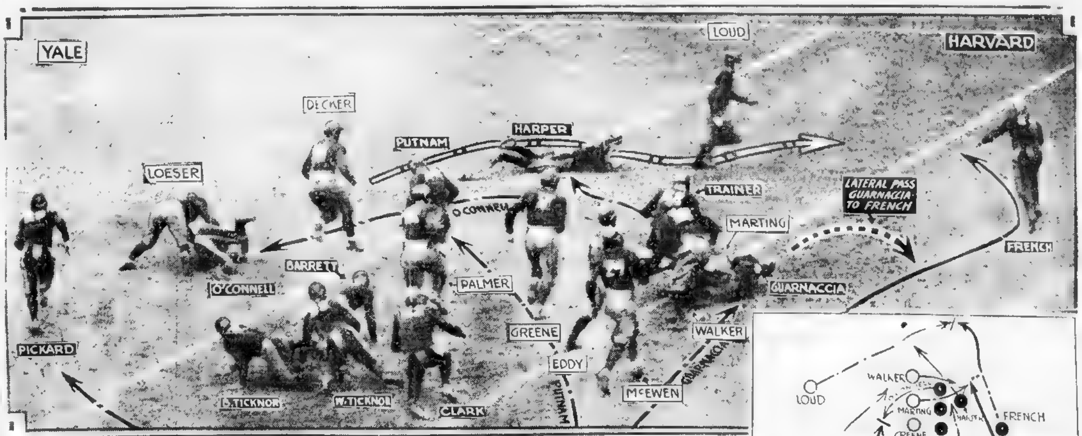
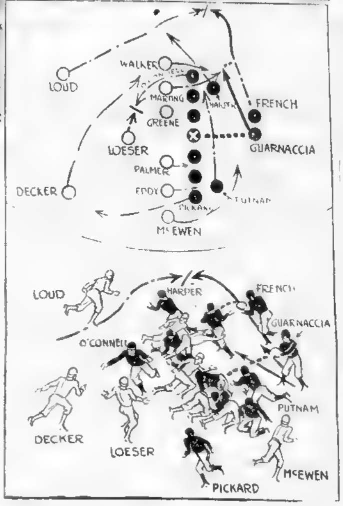
WHAT HAPPENS WHEN JUST ONE MAN FAILS ON HIS ASSIGNMENT



ONE OF THE FEW TIMES HARVARD'S LATERAL DIDN'T GAIN

Harvard's best offensive weapon against Yale was the lateral pass. The Crimson used it frequently and almost every time gained with it. Without this play it is doubtful whether Harvard would have won. But it didn't always work and this occasion when it didn't shows that its success doesn't hinge as much on the man who makes the toss or on the man who receives as it does on the wing back who is assigned to take out the enemy's defensive left halfback. He must do his job or the play is a failure, as this photo proves. Harper was the wing back on this particular play and his job was to put Loud out. He failed, as is shown. Loud got past him and nailed French for a loss. Both Guarnaccia, who tossed the ball, and French, who received it, did their part to perfection, but to no avail as Harper failed. The same Harper succeeded on most occasions and deserves just as much praise as Guarnaccia and French, who did the running, though he won't get it. Notice also the job Loesser, Yale center, is doing on O'Connell Harvard end. No wonder there were few penalties in the game when the officials were blind to such infractions of the rules.



MR. BOSTON By Jack Conway

"I AM now inclined to agree with Tad Jones when he says Yale men lack their old fighting spirit," said Mr. Boston [illegible] his way into the [illegible] "The press box at the New Haven Bowl happens to be pitched directly above the Yale stands [illegible] study the spirit of the 1928 Bulldog.

[illegible]

The old grads and students refused to [illegible] until the finish came.

"Tad Jones apparently knew what he was talking about when he declared the old whoopee at New Haven is no more. You cannot [illegible] a football team for refusing to fight down to the last when its own gang walks out on it.

"HARVARD packed plenty of spirit into the Yale Bowl. There was vigor and pep in every Crimson [illegible] There was dash and fire in every movement of the powerful eleven coached by Arnold Horween and captained by Arthur French.

"There was a touch of brilliancy to every Harvard play. There was color on the Crimson sidelines from the moment the Harvard band paraded on to the field until the red flares were burning at the dusk of evening and eager Crimson hands were pulling away at Eli goal posts, while their more courageous brothers danced on the cross bars until they brought them to earth.

"Saturday night New Haven was alive with the spirit of Jawn Harvard, while on far away Broadway the young bloods from Cambridge made merry.

"The only reserve among Harvard men was shown by those who returned on the special trains to Boston after the game. There wasn't a cheer among them. This lack of outward enthusiasm was more than made up for by those who remained behind in New Haven and those who had hurried on to New York after Crimson heroes had fought their way to glory in the Bowl.

"FRENCH, Guarnaccia, Putnam and the rest of the Crimson crew [illegible]

"THE Crimson [illegible] Dartmouth and Yale [illegible] versity of Pennsylvania

[illegible]

"THE win over Yale was a fitting climax for Horween. It proved that [illegible] decisive defeat since Eddie Mahan was at the height of his glory at Harvard.

French Deserving of 'All' Team Mention

By RALPH GILROY
Former Princeton Captain

Captain French was the most important contributor in that decisive victory which Harvard won at the Yale Bowl. His inspiring leadership touched off the spark in the Harvard team which had the Elis on their backs almost the whole afternoon long.

Too much praise cannot be given French for his [illegible] around play throughout the game and his captaincy will go down in Harvard football history as one of the best.

[illegible]

[illegible] netted a first down and [illegible] that second Harvard touchdown which put the Harvard team well out of danger.

French should earn the distinction of getting at least a mention on the "All" teams which soon will be picked by the experts, and to be [illegible]

[illegible] Scott of Penn, Miles of Princeton and Weston of Boston College is surely a fine distinction.

DESERVES MENTION

[illegible] all around play throughout the [illegible]

The best executed of all [illegible] plays, the lateral pass, was largely responsible for Harvard's success.

[illegible]

The lateral pass [illegible] sure off the [illegible] because it is a wide sweeping play which [illegible] cannot get in on. [illegible]

[illegible]

DRIVE WAS SUSTAINED

When Harvard got up to [illegible] Yale [illegible] the attack didn't peter out the way it did against Holy Cross. I believe Capt. French's leadership [illegible]

It was particularly noticeable that when Harper took out a Yale defensive back, those laterals with French carrying made good distance, but when Harper missed his man, French didn't get very far.

Says Smoking Is Bad Business for Girls

One of the season's most select [illegible] has just been tendered in honor of the Right Honorable, the Countess of Ashburnham. [illegible] Mrs. Henry J. D[illegible] [illegible] Auxiliary to the Canadian Club. Among those invited were Mesdames Charles Williams, Stephen Patten, George Miller, George Ganter, Wynn McLain, Marie Nichols, W. A. Thompson and Percy Davis.

HERE FROM CANADA

Tribute was paid to the manager of the Hotel Statler for his personal supervision of the luncheon and table decorations. A huge bouquet of long stemmed beauties was presented to her ladyship.

Boston's titled visitor journeyed from her home in Fredericton, N. B., to attend the annual ladies night just observed by the Canadian Club at the Hotel Somerset. She is staying over for the Thanksgiving holiday.

In a personal interview she remarked: "Smoking is good business for the tobacco manufacturers but bad business for a girl. She loses much of her charm and femininity. If women could be convinced that men don't like to see them belching forth smoke like smoke stacks I think they'd soon stop it. And as for rouge—what do you suppose possesses a pretty girl, with naturally lovely lips and complexion, to lay on such an ugly veneer?

SEES DANGER IN CARDS

"What do I think of clubs? I think there are altogether too many of them here in the States. I don't care how many servants a club woman has, without mother love and training she can't expect much of her children. Why should a woman work herself into a frenzy trying to make some club affair a success then come home and vent her nervousness on the family? Her husband, children and home come first; love is the very foundation of the home, and if you don't give love you can't expect to receive it.

"Cards are all right in their place but in playing for points there is always the danger of playing for money and getting into debt. I have found that the easiest way to make money for charity is by running a [illegible] or a tag day; the money just rolls in."

Her ladyship defines a snob as one who has never been anywhere, never had anything, and is afraid of herself, "and when they die, if they get to heaven at all they take a back seat."

In departing, I remarked on the smallness of her hands as her ladyship gave me a warm hand clasp. She laughed and said, "Well, what with war work, the nursing, and charity work for the refugees of a village wiped out by fire, if work means anything, and I've done my share, they ought to be enormous!"

Her ladyship is the widow of the sixth Earl of Oshburnham, in honor of whose forefathers the town of Ashburnham, Mass., is named.

Household Hints

A cake will not burn or sink during baking if a pint of water is put into a vessel at the back of the oven.

Avoid opening the oven door widely or shutting it quickly when baking cakes or pastry. A sudden draught is apt to spoil them.

When making suet puddings, have you tried substituting grated carrot for eggs? One small carrot, finely grated, is all you require for a pudding for three persons.

MINES AND MODERN

FROM THE MINES to the modern kitchen comes some precious aluminum ware. Not as heavy as club aluminum, yet heavier than the ordinary kind. Made for hotel use, but now furnished in convenient home sizes for the housewife. Fuel savers because they cook on reduced flame. Cooks more quickly and more thoroughly, too. And so evenly. Unexpectedly reasonable. Let them prove their worth to you. We wouldn't part with ours for their weight in silver.

NEW COLOR FOR YOUR HOME comes in the newest electric clocks. Bring you beauty and accurate time. Amazing electric clock takes Observatory time from your electric outlet. Two of the models come in three popular colors. No special wiring required. Just plug it in, set it and forevermore receive Observatory time. Gives dependable service year after year. Greatest improvement in time keeping since 1700. And surprisingly reasonable. The ideal Christmas gift.

EQUALLY PRECIOUS is our aluminum dutch oven. The tight-fitting cover retains the steam, conserves juices, enriches flavor. Sanitary, self-basting top distributes moisture evenly. Roasts, boils, braises and bakes to perfection.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE for Thanksgiving? Why not. The new frozen fresh strawberries are just what the name says. They are not cooked. No preservative is used other than sugar. They are sugared when packed and the sugar and freezing seals in the original flavor. Just thaw them and used fresh with cream, in shortcakes or ices. Raspberries, too, are now prepared in this convenient, delicious form. Picked when fully sun-ripened and the flavor is at its best. Only the choicest berries are used.

A SMART FROCK FOR THE GROWING GIRL

6318. The real nice thing about this model is its suitability for many materials. It is pictured in printed velvet with crepe for the trimming. Printed jersey, wool crepe or georgette would also be desirable, and for cotton prints or silk crepe it is equally attractive. Below the shaped plastron and at the sides plaits are formed that lend graceful fulness to the dress. A neat collar, plain fitted sleeves and a narrow belt complete this style. The sleeve may be finished in short length, as shown in the small view.

The pattern is cut in four sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. To make the dress for a 10-year size as pictured in the large view, will require 2⅝ yards of 39 inch material together with ⅜ yard of contrasting material for facings and collar, plastron and belt. If made with short sleeves, ¼ yard less of the figured material will be required. To finish with narrow piping or bias binding will require 3½ yards.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 12c, in coins or stamps. Send number and size of pattern ordered with your name and address.

Send 12c. in coins or stamps for our UP-TO-DATE FALL AND WINTER 1928-29 BOOK OF FASHIONS.

FOUND . . . Another Hidden Fortune in an Old Textile Mill!

NEARLY a hundred years old . . . and then came another romance . . . another era of that eager enthusiasm and happiness that goes hand in hand with achievement and prosperity!

Next year a famous old New England textile mill will complete its first century . . . doing a better business, a broader business, a more up-to-date and profitable business than ever before. Eight years ago this company turned the searchlight of modern research and merchandising analysis into the dark corners of their own business . . . and discovered a new fortune in profits.

REPUTATION vs. FAME

For nearly a hundred years this New England mill had been building a fine reputation "in the trade." They worked constantly to improve their products. Competition was not keen. Quality sold the goods. Like most textile concerns, they had not bothered much with marketing.

Their products were webbing and similar types of woven fabrics. When the automobile came in, they saw possibilities, but limited ones, in brake-lining. When the sale of automobiles grew with constant improvement in speed and power, this company, as usual, did its job well and matched this improvement, by research and experimentation, to improve the quality of their brake-linings.

Then came the great awakening . . . Eight years ago, they saw that the automobile market, their own products were far ahead of their marketing methods. At the time they had only a few salesmen. All their products were sold through jobbers. The retailers and consumers knew little or nothing about them.

First of all, they applied modern fact-finding research to the nation-wide retailer and consumer market for brake-lining. As a result, a definite and modern program of marketing was developed.

With two salesmen and a small local newspaper campaign of advertising, the new program was launched in Springfield on September 1, 1921. They sold direct to Springfield retailers . . . Today approximately 200 salesmen, under 9 division managers, cover the entire United States.

Local newspaper advertising, extended from city to city, was used for five years. Three years ago national distribution was completed when they tapped the king market, New York City. Then national magazine advertising was added to newspaper advertising, with billboard posters following later.

THE MODERN ERA

Six years ago brake-lining represented 15% of this company's total volume of business. Last year it contributed 33.1% of a steadily growing volume and was responsible for more than 36% of the company's net profits. This year the percentage of earnings will be even larger . . . and another modern fortune (which means employment for many citizens, profit for investors, wealth and prosperity for the community) has been discovered by marketing research in an old New England textile mill!

Meditations of a Wife

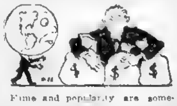
By HELEN ROWLAND.

"HOLD it!"

When the motion picture director shouts that little command through the megaphone he says a Carnegie Library-full! And, incidentally, he sets the screen star the hardest task of her life.

It's easy enough to catch the expression love, hate, fear, hauteur. But to HOLD it until the camera stops clicking—that's something else, again!

That's the real test of the actress—and of all the rest of us. And it applies to every mortal thing in life. Whether it's a job, a husband, a wife, fame, beauty, money or love!



Fame and popularity are sometimes won, overnight, by a simple twist of the wrist of fate—or of the publicity man. A flash of genius, a brand new idea, a clever stunt, a stroke of luck, a brilliant piece of press-agenting—and there you are, right on the MAP! But where are you ten or [illegible]?

It's easy enough to catch the public eye [illegible] attention for more than a [illegible]

And it's the same with beauty. Some of us are born beautiful, [illegible] all of us are born young and most of us are born healthy. Yet, if you want to hold youth and beauty to the end, you've got to WORK at it, like Fannie Ward and Mary Pickford—or else die young.

And there's money. Any financier will tell you that while it may be hard to make money and harder still to save it, the most difficult achievement of all is to hold ONTO your money after you've got it.

And love! We all get our little slice off the loaf of love sooner or later. Everybody is loved, sometime, somewhere, somehow, by somebody. But to HOLD love—the glamorous, intangible, elusive fairy gift—that is the feat that [illegible] which requires skill, finesse, self-control, self-sacrifice and superhuman patience.

STAYING POWER! That is the [illegible] quality in every [illegible]

Whether it's love, power, happiness or fortune, those who can HOLD it are the conquerors of life. "Hold it!" is the secret password to success!

"I'm not trying to hurt you," she explained, "but I couldn't love a man unless he made me look up to him. He would have to stand for something definite. He would at least have to be ambitious."

"Well, I've got ambition," he declared. "Maybe I am not cut out for doing big things—but I'd like to."

STAGE-STRUCK GIRLS

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

I SHOCKED the mother of a 16-year-old girl with a fearful jolt last week.

She came to me in damp hysterics, hands twitching with a ball of a handkerchief and lips trembling. "Marianne—" she began, but it seemed she could not continue, and I felt that Marianne had at least absconded with the family pearls, if not something worse.

"Marianne wants to go on the stage," the mother at last managed to inform me. To which I replied with what she considered great cruelty, "Well, what of it?"

I truly couldn't see any reason to get so steamed up because Marianne had said what nearly every girl at some time during her life says to her mother: "I want to go on the stage."

What there is about the theatrical profession which makes every girl long to plunge into it I cannot fathom unless it is the fascination of the immediate response which an actress gets from her work. We all like recognition and the theater offers this in abundance if you make good.

It also offers good hard work, but few girls entering its portals realize this. However, if the girl is intelligent, has balance, is willing to slave morning, noon and night, has a personality which interests people, I should by all means let her enter this profession if she so desires.

On the other hand, if she only yearns for publicity and, as the old joke went, wants to go on the stage "so she can sleep until noon," do ANYTHING to keep her from it. The theatrical profession is glutted with men and women who have entered it because it looked like easy, pleasant money.

If I had a daughter who had decided she wanted to become a member of this profession, I should do all in my power to prepare her for it and help her get started.

The daily routine of a good stock company will develop a sense of punctuality in your daughter which will surprise you. Actresses don't keep people waiting. She will improve in diction, and avoid the slovenly pronunciation so prevalent in private life. She will acquire a knowledge of how to dress to bring out her best points.

I number among my friends who were all formerly on the stage a successful artist, a capable kindergarten teacher, a very gracious society woman of Austin, Tex., and a newspaper editor. And I think that not one of them would give up their theatrical experience for the world.

If your daughter wants to go on the stage because she is willing to work in order to gain this means of self-expression help her. If it is merely a desire for notoriety and a fast pace in recreation, try to interest her in something else, because publicity doesn't come to failures on the stage any more than it does to failures in private life, and the gay parties are few and far between for the actress who is really working toward success.

BAER FACTS

by Arthur "Bugs" Baer

ABOARD the Maryland Radio relayed through H A T.

Armistice declared today. Hoover went fishing.

Didn't stop at Guatemala. Wired good will in by cable.

Newspaperman caught throwing empty bottle overboard. He explained that he was a scientist studying the ocean currents.

Everything O. K. Stopped to fish again because no fish were caught last time.

Went past Colombia, Panama and Bolivia at speed of 18 knots per good will.

When camera man asked President-elect to pose in sailor's uniform, Mr. Hoover said:

"That's a terrific amount of delicatessen."

First stop will be at Honduras. That's the place where they used to have the lotteries. Mr Hoover won a big one on November 6.

All the Bolivian officials were on wharf when Maryland speeded by. Mr. Hoover was fishing at the time and came near catching one.

Ambassador Fletcher indicated that he is still pondering on international affairs by asking if there was any turkey on board.

Mr. Hoover trolled for a whale today, but the darned thing swallowed the spoon.

There was an argument over the merits of dry-fly and live-bait fishing for sharks. Ambassador Fletcher might have won it if a tiger shark hadn't snapped the scarlet coachman off a trout line.

A vote taken among the thousand sailors indicated that the best way to catch a porpoise is with a bamboo rod and ordinary sewing thread.

Looks like the only way to get a fish dinner is to open a can of sardines.

3-MINUTE JOURNEYS

By TEMPLE MANNING

EVERY year thousands of vacationists and tourists join a Western trek. By train and motor they go toward the setting sun and the wonders of one of the most beautiful spots in the world—Yellowstone Park.

Yellowstone nestles in the northwestern part of Wyoming, that state which is often called the last frontier of wild life in America. And so it is, for in the Shoshone country, around Jackson Hole and in other parts of the state are to be found greater quantities of wild animal life than in any other part of the United States, bar none.

But it is for that comparatively small square in the northwestern corner that most of the Wyoming-bound visitors are destined—Yellowstone—perhaps the greatest drawing card among the national parks. And rightfully so.

Yellowstone offers a wide variety of scenery and interest, but its fame is unquestionably built on its geysers and hot springs. And among the geysers probably none is better known than Old Faithful.

Geysers are formed by subterranean bodies of water. The water is heated until it boils, the power thus generated forcing the water out through a crevice or hole in the surface of the earth. Naturally the volume of water, the heat and the surface conditions all serve to control the frequency with which the geyser erupts.

Old Faithful "spouts" every 65 to 70 minutes—with astounding regularity. A rumble is heard—steam appears at an opening, then a little water and finally a huge stream that shoots into the air 250 feet or more.

While Old Faithful, because of its frequency and inspiring volume, is the dean of all geysers, there are others particularly well known. The Giant geyser—so-called—erupts every two to four days, flowing for 90 minutes without cessation and often spouting to a height of 250 feet. Others are the Beehive and Lone Star.

Besides the geysers, Yellowstone has a vast number of boiling mud pools and hot springs. Among the latter the most famous, perhaps, is the handkerchief pool. Drop your handkerchief into it and it disappears, to come to the surface again in about 30 seconds. There are always curious visitors grouped around this pool, which does an annual volume of laundry work which would be the despair of 10 Chinamen.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

CONRAD NAGEL AT SCOLLAY

Conrad Nagel

Conrad Nagel, seemingly working out a life sentence in crook films, is again the center of "gyppery" in "Caught in the Fog," a thief and cupid chase now visible on the Scollay screen. A houseboat of the plutocratic type is the locale for all the fun. Its owner, being careless enough to leave his jewels on board, sends back his handsome nephew to retrieve them. But several competing crooks and the usual duo of comic detectives are also interested. The boat is anchored in placid Florida waters while most of the action takes place.

Like the famous "Seven Keys to Baldpate," the plot manages to cast suspicion on everybody concerned. Charles Gerrard plays a crook of the waxed moustache stripe; Emil Chautard and Ruth Cherrington are an old couple that wander aboard in some inexplicable manner; May McAvoy is likewise involved, and Mack Swain and Hugh Herbert are as ridiculous a pair of "flatfeet" as ever the screen has shown.

SCHIPA SCORES NEW TRIUMPH

By MOSES SMITH

Tito Schipa was greeted with the wildest acclaim at a concert in Symphony Hall yesterday afternoon. The great Italian tenor saw his auditors becoming progressively more enthusiastic as the program advanced and demanding more and more extra numbers, which he was willing to give.

The program as originally announced was not long—a dozen songs for Mr. Schipa, and three solo numbers for the pianist, Frederick Longas. But after the singer had completed his first group of Italian numbers, the procession of encores began. Two were enough at this stage. Just before intermission three more extras were added. In the second half of the program there were three more, not to mention a repetition of Mr. Longas' song, "Sevillana," which was very well received.

By the time the printed program was completed we had listened to two hours of music, which we thought enough for one afternoon. And so we cannot report how many more songs were given an insistent public at the close. As to the manner of singing—it warranted the use of many a superlative. Mr. Schipa has definitely established himself among the great of the concert hall, as well as of the opera house, which is a rare achievement.

THRILLS AT TWO HOUSES

The avowed purpose of "The Terror," as may be gleaned from the title, is to terrify.

On the Olympia and Fenway screens, currently, this new all-talking movie provides what is not only the best of the conversational cinemas thus far, but also the best scare that can be had for the money.

Edgar Wallace, an Englishman who writes fiction like Henry Ford makes motor cars, is responsible for "The Terror." As a mystery shocker it is a sort of "Cat and the Canary" and "The Gorilla," neither better nor worse than either.

The acting honors of the piece are Louise Fazenda's, as an extremely fussy person. Miss Fazenda has, in the bargain, a good speaking voice and she makes good use of some perfectly preposterous lines. Edward Everett Horton, a fine comedian anyway, is also to be depended upon. May McAvoy, the heroine, does a good bit of screaming. Others are Alec Francis, Matthew Betz and Holmes Herbert.

Moxie Will Be Dispensed From Handsome Advertising Truck

NEW MOXIE ADVERTISING TRUCK

Will be used for dispensing ice-cold Moxie at fairs and other large gatherings.

Bostonians will soon be introduced to the latest in an advertising and demonstration motor truck, the device and invention of Francis E. Thompson, president of the Moxie Company of Massachusetts. In all the world, there is not another one like it.

The handsome truck is made of lead-coated sheet steel, with a soft aluminum finish. It is mounted on a Reo chassis and its unusual features are many.

It carries two replicas of the famous Moxie bottle. One represents the large size bottle and the other the single drink size. Each is a huge affair but true in detail, even to the label on the bottle and the word Moxie blown in the shoulder.

Refrigeration and illuminating plants are part of the equipment. Refrigeration is by Kelvinator System. The first keeps a supply of Moxie at the proper temperature, for the large bottle is a Moxie booth or bar, from which this beverage can be dispensed at fairs and games and other outdoor events.

Electricity for the illumination of the bottles by Neon lights and for other lighting purposes is generated by a Kohler electric generator located in the forward part of the truck.

Movable side pieces for advertising display will bulletin the activities of the Moxie Company, and a case carrying the necessary spare tire is utilized to display "The Seal of Public Approval."

Handsome nickel trimmings emphasize the truck's good lines. It weighs 7100 pounds, has a capacity of 900 pounds and cost in the neighborhood of $10,000.

The Moxie bottle truck will be used to advertise and demonstrate Boston's popular beverage, together with the four Moxie horsemobiles and, like them, will give New England cities and towns something to gaze at in wonderment when it is out on the road.

Mexico's Election

All True Friends of That Country Hope the Best Man Will Win

Mexico will elect next November a President for the new six-year terms for which one of the recently adopted Calles-Obregon amendments to the Constitution provide.

To be eligible for President of Mexico you must have been in the republic but out of public office for at least one year before election day.

That is why Aaron Saenz has had to resign the governorship of Nuevo Leon in order to accept the presidential nomination of the National Revolutionary party of which, to date, President Calles and the late President Obregon have been the strongest leaders.

Governor Saenz withdrew from the race for provisional President last September and threw his support to his fellow-Governor of the neighboring State of Tamaulipas—Governor Portes Gil. With the support of Saenz, Portes Gil was soon thereafter unanimously elected by the congress for the provisional term which begins November 30 next and ends in February, 1930.

Few members of the Mexican Revolutionary family have been more closely associated with the political fortunes of both Obregon and Calles than was Governor Saenz. He was only twenty-two years old when he joined the Carranza movement in 1913 as a captain on General Obregon's staff.

When Obregon launched his movement against Carranza in 1920 Saenz followed Obregon and under his presidency served as under-secretary of Foreign Relations.

President Calles called Saenz into his Cabinet and kept him there as Minister of Foreign Relations from 1924 until 1927, when his native state elected him Governor.

Having demonstrated great aptitude for politics, Governor Saenz was made manager of General Obregon's second campaign for the presidency last year. Had Obregon lived to serve out his term it was a foregone conclusion that Saenz would have been one of the most influential members of his Cabinet.

Although he has risen to the grade of general in the army and saw considerable active service during the revolution, Governor Saenz does not owe his political advancement to his military rank. He will run for President as a civilian and will champion the theory that the military should at all times be subordinate to the civil authority in the government of a republic.

Should he be elected President, Governor Saenz could be counted upon to lead his country along the paths blazed by Obregon, Calles and Portes Gil.

To date the only other presidential candidate for the six-year term is General Antonio Villareal, who will have the support of the so-called Anti-Re-electionist party. He was put out of Mexico last summer, but has recently returned to press his candidacy.

Announcement by the Calles government that Villareal will be just as free to run for President as is Saenz is good news from our neighbor across the border. It is additional evidence that Mexico seems to be steadily emerging from the dark days of reconstruction into what President Calles calls "the governmental or constructive stage" of the new era.

All true friends of Mexico, here and elsewhere, will hope that the presidential campaign now beginning across the border will go forward without interruption, that the best man will win and that he will give to his country an administration distinguished by peace, progress and prosperity.

Some People Will NOT Be Vaccinated

Brunswick, Maine, famous as the seat of Bowdoin College and the site of the Pine Tree State's first cotton mill, is worried by an epidemic of smallpox.

Cities and towns dislike to have attention called to these visitations. In many cases they make every effort to minimize the extent of the trouble when they do not suppress all mention of it.

The Brunswick situation is "well in hand," we are told. We mention it only to emphasize the lesson conveyed by the words printed in capitals in the paragraph which follows:

> "Dr. Elbridge G. A. Stetson, health officer, said that since October 1 there have been 36 cases of the disease here, of which 17 have been relieved and 19 still exist, several of which broke out Saturday. NO INSTANCE IS REPORTED WHERE A PERSON SUCCESSFULLY VACCINATED HAS BECOME AFFLICTED WITH THE DISEASE."

If it were not for vaccination, which physicians say is one of the safest, simplest and most potent specific prophylactics in the field of preventive medicine, smallpox would be raging everywhere.

Why, in this country which boasts of its intelligence, are there thousands of cases of this disease annually?

Chiefly because so many "smart" people try in every possible way to avoid an operation which would make them smallpox-proof for years.

There's No Hurry

Sir Oliver Lodge tells us that the world never will come to an end. Why? Because this old, oblate spheroid possesses the natural quality known as recuperative power. You may batter it and bang it, drill holes into it and lay waste its forests, but it will come back always. All the armies ever raised cannot obliterate it nor stop its whirling around the sun.

Frenzied little flappers who are trying to crowd a life's experience into a year may take a rest. Business men, fighting to amass another million before it's all over, may cease worrying. Youth seeking a royal road to success may turn its steps toward the rough road of experience, for there is plenty of time.

Get some enjoyment out of life, but do not make pleasure the sole aim of your existence.

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 26—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up and so much confusion what with the maid heating up the room, the dog barking and the riveting next door that I despaired of labor and off by coach with Basil Woon, the scrivener, and breakfasted at a bleak inn in Van Cortland Park. And on the way pointed out E. Phillips Oppenheim, the English style writer.

Wandered about the upper reaches of Manhattan and surprised at the new city that has grown up there in a few years and so with my wife to Hugh and Sadie Murray's, where came Lady Drummond Hay and Karl von Wiegand, who crossed in the Zeppelin, and several others.

All evening at a window listening to a fellow foxed with drink who stood before a mirror sermonizing on the intolerance of the world and at times broke down with fits of sobbing. Then warking until morning broke and with a great weariness to bed.

A NEW hoop-de-doo among young blades is that of wearing a Basque beret with the dinner suit. In other words it is—a fast one, Monsieur—the berets.

YOUNG folks with the wherewithal are also going in for night flying with a few acrobatic didoes on the side at a field opened on Long Island. The aerial course requires 51 hours' time and an expenditure of $800.

THE decorous animation once as pronounced as its pall of cigarette smoke is missing even in the night clubs labeled "select" these days. They inspire a gaiety like that of losing a filling out of a tooth just as you start out for a good time. In a visit to several the other evening after theater the biggest crowd numbered 14, not including waiters who stood in attitudes of wistful indolence and in another members of our party were the only suckers of the evening. Proprietors hold on believing that as things could be no worse they might improve.

IN the last club I ran out of money—an old Scotch custom—when I had reached the hat check girl. I thought one of those finger-snapping drunks demanding her attention would save me from embarrassment but at the revolving door I looked back and she was giving me one of her you-dirty-little-so-and-so looks. And only Gene Buck with a quick yank saved me from getting caught in the revolving door.

A COMEDIAN turned down a $600-a-week offer with a successful road show because he preferred to remain on Broadway. After six weeks of "Nothing today" at the agencies he wired the company manager he would not only sign on the dotted line but would bathe the leading lady's poodle. He is now in the cast, but at $150 a week.

ANY number of stage folk refuse in the throaty manner to leave Broadway save, perhaps, for a brief tour of what are known in the trade as "key cities"—important big stands near the metropolis that are overnight jumps from the Rialto. That may be why many wind up with a "benefit."

THE truth is performers save more on the road than in New York. Proof of this is evidenced by many of our richest actors—David Warfield, Otis Skinner, George M. Cohan, Al Jolson and others—who in their hey-dey never hesitated to take to the kerosene circuit. It enlarges their following. People who see them in smaller cities want to see how they look on Broadway.

THE most amusing display of "artistic temperament" among actors for the season was that of an old son from London who spent three days at rehearsal and then took a boat home. He said they insisted on putting ice in his drinking water when the jolly fruit demanded it un-iced. Sounds silly but those of us who have cried for ice water in London understand.

THE other evening I was the solitary grayhead at a party of young moderns. Youth these days is a mental intoxicant. Before I knew it I was doing my adagio dance, singing Frankie and Johnny and otherwise trying to be funny and did not get home until 3 o'clock in the morning. A few evenings like that and the folks will take me out of Yale and put me to work.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

HAVE you ever owned a car? And had a neighbor who didn't? Then you'll understand the following outburst of Gasoline Blues.

Dear Miss Robinson:

My husband and I have worked hard for years to buy a little home outside the city and finally saved enough to buy a car. There are two or three persons who live along our way who expect us to pick them up every day to and from work. This has been done for the past two years and is still going on. These persons have never bought a cent's worth of gasoline or anything else for us, and, in the meantime, seem to be piling up their money for a rainy day.

We know we are "plain saps" to stand for all this, but can't do anything about it unless we insult these people outright. We have friends whom we would like to accommodate occasionally, but we never have any room for them on account of the three bums. Besides being brought to and from work every day, these same bums are always suggesting nice trips we can all take. Can you imagine such nerve—I couldn't if it wasn't for the fact that I see it enacted every day.

I certainly will appreciate seeing your views on the above as I am sure you can see how the above performance would get any normal person's goat.

MRS. M. R.

That isn't just car trouble, lady, that's Life.

Life is just one goat-getting process after another—a perpetual fight for place and privilege in which every living creature is involved. If you're too soft or lazy to fight you may decide that such conflict is cruel and unnecessary. It isn't. Conflict is essential for growth and development. Life would soon die out if it didn't have to fight its way.

Your conflict with your neighbors over your car is but a tiny segment of that enormous struggle for advantage which runs through all life. And your development and success depend entirely on your ability to handle yourself in that struggle.

Most of us handle ourselves very badly. We refuse to face facts or make decisions. We ravel out in self-pity—whining at the injustice of others. Or we endure bonds which, if we have an ounce of spunk, we'd promptly cast aside.

Your situation with your neighbors is an example of such foolishness. They want to ride in your car just as they want anything else that will improve their situation. That's natural. You should expect such an impulse and cope with it. But instead of that you let them impose their desire on you and alibi your act by claiming that you're "afraid of insulting three bums." But if they are three bums why allow them to batten on your life, and why be afraid to insult them? PARASITES AND BUMS SHOULD BE INSULTED. IF YOU HAVEN'T THE NERVE TO DO IT YOU DESERVE TO BE IMPOSED UPON.

Snap out of the fog, lady. Make up your mind to take life as it is and prepare your defense. If you don't defend yourself no one else will. Why should they? It isn't their job.

Moles of Revolution

by Herbert Kaufman

Revolution is a growth with tortuous, far-reaching roots. Its sources are always obscure. Oppressive power has regularly met its Nemeses in unexpected quarters—because it invariably underestimates capacities that experience has not measured.

George the Fourth could not be brought to realize that young Doctor Warren and shabby-coated Sam Adams would eventually cost Britain her American colonies.

Any more than Charles the First sensed that a brewer's son, named Oliver Cromwell, would simultaneously seize him and opportunity and rear a commonwealth with the timbers of his scaffold.

In 1914 the last blind rouble in the Czar's strong-box was ready to wager, at odds of a million to one, that Russia's capital would never be called Leningrad.

The great designers of the French Revolution were silent moles nibbling away at monarchism.

Many a one of them had actually been trampled, like vermin, under the high heels of the very monarchy they devastated.

Even Voltaire and Diderot were esteemed merely as scribling clowns by the Court of Versailles.

Before either met his hour of glory, both knew the infamy of imprisonment without trial.

Voltaire, whose name is now a feather in the wing of fame, was a chronic butt in lordly homes, whose rowdy hosts more than once verbally slapped his face.

And when he did finally take a brocaded little puke to task, he was drubbed by lackeys in the open Paris streets.

Since he was not a "gentleman," his assailant refused to cross swords with him.

So, denied satisfaction by duel, he drew his pen and plunged it into the vitals of aristocracy itself.

The pigments with which he and Rosseau and Montesquieu did their work were ground in tears and shame.

Autocracy wantonly slashed their pride and they dipped quills in the wound and wrote its death sentence.

"V" VERSES by Herbert Kaufman

Vim Vigor Victory

We have worries of our own.

Keep your troubles in their place;
We have all that we can face.

Everybody bears the cross;
Undergoes some sort of loss;

Though we whistle at our tacks,
Half of us are wearing masks.

There are wounds we don't reveal,
Heart stabs that will never heal,

But we fight on just the same,
Cloak the hurt, conceal the maim,
Play the man and play the game.

We can hide the pain and you
Must stand up and under, too!

(C) H. K.

The mind is slow in unlearning what it has been long in learning.—Seneca.

We have just enough religion to make us hate, but not enough to make us love one another.—Swift

The most completely lost of all days is that on which one has not laughed.—Chamfort.
